Final Ultimatum Issued Children Of Light Zealots

A Keremeos school board official told The Herald at press time that six "Children of Light" have returned to their classrooms. Secretary R. B. Sheridan said: "The children left the farmhouse shortly before noon today. They are Harold Schneider, 14; Dale Wilson, 13; Lucille Chapman, 7; Floyd Chapman, 9; Connie Chapman, 10 and Reva Sappok, 9. Reva is the daughter of farmhouse-owner Oswald Sappok.

"Two senior students, both 14, remained in the house. We will investigate the matter further this afternoon," he stated.

If eight children "waiting for God" under zealous direction of Mrs. Grace Agnes Carlson in a somber farmhouse at Keremeos aren't in their classrooms today, their parents will be summonsed and brought before a magistrate.

"This will be the final ultimatum," the Herald was told by R. B. Sheridan, secretary of the Keremeos school board. He told a Herald reporter this morning that he and fellow school board officials were "just sitting tight."

"We decided to give them one more break," said Mr. Sheridan. He explained that under school law, the parents of all parents who send their children to school, and if they don't, school boards are authorized to take legal action by pressing charges against irresponsible parents before a magistrate.

The children, apparently fascinated by the teachings of the former Osoyoos post-mistress, who has become almost a legendary figure, range in age from seven to 14 years. Four are elementary school pupils and the remainder attend junior-senior high school.

PERSONAL INTERVIEW
Mr. Sheridan secured a personal interview with Mrs. Carlson on Monday evening. With A. Barker, school board chairman, and two members of the Hedyes school board, A. McInnes and P. Crowther, he went to the farmhouse to convince Mrs. Carlson that the children should return to school.

"She promised us faithfully that they would be back to school on Tuesday," he related. "Then she phoned the next day and told us that, because of certain circumstances, it will be impossible for the children to go to school today."

Recounting his meeting with the red-shawled leader, Mr. Sheridan said that he and his companions had a difficult time when they walked through about 100 yards of orchard to the red-brick farmhouse.

NOTHING TO IT
"We just rapped on the door. Mr. Carlson answered and we asked if we could see his wife. He answered (Cont. on Page 6, 1st Sec.)

Road Construction Given Priority By 1951 City Council

Establishment of a long range program of permanent road construction, to start this year, was urged upon a receptive council by Mayor W. A. Rathbun in his 1951 inaugural address at Monday's council meeting.

Subsequent discussion disclosed that the aldermen were like-minded.

Council is now thinking of a five-year program with annual expenditures of anywhere between $50,000 and $100,000 with the objective of completing five miles of road each year.

MONEY HAS TO BE FOUND
Money for such a program would be found by squeezing, if necessary, the estimates of other departments. There is also under consideration the possibility, and acceptability to the property owners, of constructing roads under local improvements in which property owners would pay 50 percent of the cost.

Council is also in accord with the idea of letting the contract to some large contracting firm, that has adequate equipment to do the job. In this regard it is hoped that some deal may be negotiated with the firm which it is hoped will be brought in early this year by the provincial government for construction of the proposed new highway.

NUMBER ONE PROBLEM
"Roads are our most important problem," asserted the mayor. His Worship appealed to the aldermen to prepare their estimates with a view to providing a large sum for permanent road work.

"I would like to see the budget brought down as early as possible to permit an immediate start on the roads as soon as weather permits."

"In the meantime," continued the mayor, "I would like to see every alderman give serious consideration to a long range program."

Reiterating that roads "are our most important problem," Mayor Rathbun urged that they should be given number one priority. "We have other important things to deal with such as the fire hall, the new fire hall, but roads are the big problem," he said.

SUGGESTS
Alderman Harris suggested the need for a permanent building policy, to be adopted by the council, by suggesting that the city should have a long range program of building in an effort to arrive at a unanimous decision which roads should be tackled.

"A personal inspection would be to estimate better judgements should also be made. The estimate of the cost before we go down to our estimates," he said.

The mayor said, "It will be natural for the various committees to try and get all the money for their particular departments but it will be up to council to cut down and cut down."

"There is no doubt in my mind that roads should be given priority. Our citizens are entitled to roads and we must have good roads if we are to attract visitors."

His Worship then invited Alderman J. G. Harris to outline his plan for road building under a local improvement scheme. The road and late discussion in reported elsewhere on this page.

More Road Work If Land Owners Willing To Pay

"The idea of a local improvements scheme for road construction may be obnoxious at first thoughts," declared Alderman J. G. Harris in introducing to council his plan for getting 50 miles of paved roads for the city within the space of five years.

Alderman Harris' contention is that roads are built elsewhere under such schemes, that it doubles the amount of money available and thus speeds up the work, and that in the long run it is beneficial to the entire community as funds are available for the building up of secondary roads to a point where they are ready for paving.

AT SMALL COST
As for the cost, Alderman Harris estimates it would cost a property owner, with an 80 foot frontage, about $40, $8 a year for five years, to get a paved road in front of his property.

The chairman of the board of works argued that such a fifty percent contribution by the property owners would be a tremendous financial lift for the city. It would also enable council to spend more money on building up roads to a point where they would in turn be ready for permanent paving.

"Personally I think many property owners, particularly business men, would jump at it," Alderman Harris declared. "It is quite legal, just as it is legal to build sidewalks under a local improvement scheme."

DIFFERENT VIEWPOINT
Alderman W. D. Haddleton expressed opposition to the idea. He argued that "everybody else would be saying that it would be unfair to ask some property owners while

Old Landmarks Fast Vanishing

Day by day the scene at the corner of Martin street and Nanaimo avenue is changing, as demolition crews work rapidly to clear the sites of the firehall and the old peach festival association offices, to make way for the new hotel.

R. L. Sloan, contractor, is confident that his men will meet the deadline set in the agreement with the city. The new is expected to be bulldozed sometime next week.

Only the skeletons are left standing of the buildings that have done their duty to the city as firehall, municipal offices and jail for many years.

Standing amid the rubble is the old jail, that for many years held the city's secrets. The tower that once housed the jail, and housed the bell that rang out in urgent calls to the city's volunteer firemen, now stands ignominiously upended besides a pile of broken lumber and old roofing tiles.

Penned evidence of the sometime guests of the old jailhouse, behind the firehall, remains on the walls. Miscellaneous with a sense of history noted details of their brief stays in duration vile with comments on their captors and conditions.

Soon the historical site will be just another vacant lot, ready for the erection of a new hotel that will be a landmark in the new Penticton.

Cafe Suffered Water Famine

"Elite Cafe on Main street suffered acute water shortage during last summer, so acute that during rush hours it was often impossible to serve customers with drinking water or meals. On one occasion the cafe had to close down.

The cafe management, in a letter to council, made the foregoing complaint and requested that the situation be rectified before next summer.

The cafe is not hooked directly to the water main, it was stated in explanation of the shortage. The Elite management will be notified that the city's domestic water main replacement program provides for replacements in that area which will take care of the trouble.

Well-Known Former Resident Passes

Mrs. George Hazen, a well-known former resident of Penticton died in Oshawa, Ontario, yesterday, at the age of 85, after a year's illness.

Mrs. Hazen was brought up in Hamilton, Ontario, and lived in many parts of this continent until 1928 when she took up residence in this city and remained here until the death of her husband in 1943.

Mr. Hazen was well-known in this city for his hobby of treating sick animals in the days when Penticton had no veterinarian.

Mrs. Hazen is survived by a daughter, Mrs. F. Snell of Oshawa, one sister, Miss Frances Graham, of Vancouver, and a cousin, Fred G. Anderson, of Penticton, two grandchildren and one great grandchild.

Work On New Arena Proceeding Steadily

Work on the Memorial Arena is going ahead as per schedule. Half the site has been excavated and, according to H. S. Kenyon, contractor, pilingdriving will commence as soon as the piles are delivered.

Much of the building materials have been delivered and it is reported that no great difficulties are anticipated in obtaining future supplies.

MOST FORTUNATE STUDENTS are a half-century of Penticton education. These are the Grade 1 pupils sitting down to the first hot meals served for a long time. "No longer must Penticton's small fry carry a few sandwiches wrapped in brown paper," now you see them above going after stewed steak, mashed potatoes and salad in the Penticton schools' brand-new, gleamingly clean cafeteria, which seated about 300 primary, elementary, and high school students on its first day of operation Monday. Note the determined look on the face of the pretty little girl depicted above as she carries her heaping tray to a table.

Pupils Welcome Opening Of New School Cafeteria

"This is good" was the opinion of Penticton school children partaking of the stewed steak, mashed potatoes, salad and milk, with milk pudding and raisins for dessert, that comprised the first meal to be served in the new school cafeteria last Monday.

It's hard to say what the tiny grade one kiddies thought about it all as they passed by the serving counter. This wasn't a bit like the way that Mummy served lunch.

A little puzzled, some didn't bother to take milk. One little boy passed up the meat course and went on to the dessert.

Others passed wide-eyed into the auditorium without taking cutlery. It was plain that they didn't understand all this standing in line and eating in that huge dining room.

But it seemed all right. And the food smelled good and hot after the cold wind outside, and soon the kiddies had forgotten all about the strangeness and were concentrating on the food before them.

Burch was pressed into service to see that the youngsters got all the bread and butter they wanted and made a choice between chocolate and white milk.

Teachers were kept busy, directing the children to their desks and replenishing milk supplies. For 25 cents a day pupils of the primary, elementary and high schools can be served with "all the nutrition that can be put into one meal", to quote one of the teachers assisting in the supervision of the children from the primary school.

The kitchen staff is under the supervision of Mrs. E. Stuart, who entered to 8,000 war workers in the Boeing aircraft factory in Vancouver during the war, and who now assures that the food on the school cafeteria menu is rich in nourishment.

On the first day of the cafeteria's operation, the staff served nearly 300 bottles of milk as well as hot chocolate, and the equivalent of 20 household loaves of bread and 4 pounds of butter.

Local Lawyer To Prosecute Case Involving Wreck

A Penticton lawyer, Harold W. McInnes, K.C., will be involved in the immediate future in a legal case on which the attention of a great part of the nation will be centered.

He has been retained by the government as the prosecutor in the charge laid against a C.N.R. telegraph operator in the aftermath of last November's Canoe River wreck.

Alfred John Arthur Atherton, 22, was arrested at Saskatoon this week and charged with manslaughter.

Atherton was formerly employed at Red Pass Junction, and it is alleged that from that point he incorrectly passed orders to a west-bound C.N.R. troop train.

Twenty-one persons died in the subsequent head-on collision of the troop train and an east-bound passenger train, and the tragic occurrence roused continent-wide interest.

Warrant for the arrest was issued by B.C.'s Attorney-General Gordon Winner, following the Board of Transport Inquiry into the wreck.

This inquiry was held at Edmonton.

Preliminary hearing of the charge will be conducted at Prince George. The accused man will be defended by John G. Diefenbaker, M.P., prominent lawyer and parliamentarian, it was announced in a Canadian Press dispatch yesterday.

Mr. McInnes, before going to this preliminary, will also represent the crown in the Ouellette murder case appeal, being heard in Victoria on January 29.

Heavy Agenda At 62nd Annual BCFGA Meeting

Interest of the entire Okanagan Valley will be focussed next week on the city of Vernon, scene of the 62nd annual convention of the British Columbia Fruit Growers Association.

This meeting of 86 delegates, representing the near 4000-strong association, may prove to be the most momentous in the long history of the BCFGA, because of the staggering losses suffered by growers in all parts of the valley as a result of the severe frost last winter.

Delegates will deal with 54 resolutions apart from listening to voluminous reports of the year's activities which will be presented by officials of the various related organizations.

Also on the agenda are addresses by two of the leading agriculturists in the Pacific Northwest, Dr. L. P. Butler of the U.S. Department of Agriculture in Wenatchee, Wash., will outline the "Factors affecting results of thinning sprays on apples" Wednesday morning. Speaking Wednesday afternoon will be Dr. E. C. Palmer, superintendent of the Dominion Experimental Station at Summerland, whose topic will be "Tree fruit varieties planning recommendation" (Cont. from Page 6, 1st Sec.)

Red Cross Ready But Not Asked

"If disorganization hampered rescue efforts following the OPA airline crash December 23, don't blame the Red Cross for it."

This statement was issued Wednesday to a Herald reporter by Miss Walter, chairman of the Red Cross disaster services committee, at the time of the crash.

"The public naturally assumed that we were in charge of the emergency measures. We weren't," Mr. Winter explained. "As a matter of fact, we had an emergency committee set up and ready for immediate action but neither police nor Canadian Pacific Airlines officials asked us to take part in co-ordination of search tactics. We definitely had no part in direction."

He stressed the readiness of his committee to co-ordinate operations in times of emergency, recounting the "Operation Mercy" test last October, approved by the city council, which prepared Red Cross workers for leadership in case of floods.

"We were asked to open our centre so that it could be used as a base for search parties and it was at the disposal of officials on Saturday morning, the day of the crash," he asserted.

He said that the only authority granted to the Red Cross was for provision of food and clothing which cost $218 and was purchased by Canadian Pacific Airlines. About 30 blankets were supplied by the Red Cross.

Mr. Winter lauded police action: "I certainly don't place any blame on them," he stated.

Now Red Cross leaders are eager to eliminate any possibility of "disorganization" in future cases of disaster.

34 Delegates From This District To Attend Convention

Journeying to the 62nd annual convention of the British Columbia Fruit Growers Association to be held Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday of next week at Vernon are 34 delegates from the South Okanagan district. They are:

Penticton — J. A. English, Frank Wintner, F. W. Laird, A. S. King, M. E. Wright, J. A. Third and A. C. Atkinson.

Summerland — N. Bentley, George Skell, W. E. Alexander, W. M. Taylor, Y. Towgood, H. Walton and H. Mohr.

Naramata — Cliff Nettleton, Phil Workman and Eldon Baker.

Kaleden — Norman Ashe, Okanagan Falls — Eric Bomford, Keremeos — J. B. M. Clarke, H. C. McGuffie and T. Wurtz.

Osoyoos — O. Jahnke, D. P. Fraser, H. C. MacAlpine and F. K. Cabelmann.

Saturday Closing Hours Now Changed
According to an announcement from the Retail Merchants Association, merchants of that organization will close their stores at 6 p.m. Saturdays.

The new regulation will be effective until the end of March. Mid-week closing times remain unchanged.

Red Cross, St. John's Ambulance workers and police will meet next week to plan co-ordination of services in cases of emergency.

Assessor No Enemy Of House Painters

Householders can paint up without fear that when the city's assessor comes around the bright new paint jobs will catch his eye and up will go the assessments.

This was made clear in council Monday by the city assessor, Mayor W. A. Rathbun said. "It is remarkable how many people think that if they paint their homes it will mean an increase in their assessments."

On another point the assessor was equally clear. There is no lowering of values if a householder has water in his basement. "It is his house," he would be, said Alderman W. D. Haddleton. "It would be some sort of compensation."

Unsightly Poles Are Here To Stay

There is no hope, unless the city is prepared to go to tremendous expense, that unsightly power poles can be removed and power cables run underground.

Electric Superintendent P. J. Murphy dismissed the suggestion as "impractical" when asked by council Monday if it could be done.

Mr. Murphy explained that underground cables would require underground transformers. These would have to be specially waterproofed and placed in waterproofed manholes. The ground is too low and the water content too high.

"Imagine what would happen if it would be almost sure to do, water not to the transformers."

Where lines are suitably located, poles could be taken off the streets and light standards could be linked with underground cables as no transformers would be needed. Apart from this, Mr. Murphy indicated, the city will have to put up with the poles.

The city's electrical superintendent was warmly praised by council for the "excellence" of his annual report which he presented Monday. A digest of the report is published in the second section of this issue.

THE BOARD OF TRADE

Tonight marks the annual meeting of the board of trade, and it is to be hoped that there will be a strong and interested attendance.

The annual meeting, more than any other, calls for such a gesture though it can be incidentally emphasized that encouraging attendance at every session throughout the year would yield handsome dividends to the community. At this time, however, new executive officers are being chosen, and it behooves every interested member to have his part in the framing of the board's personnel. What's more, a good meeting launches such new officers under the best of auspices.

There is a growing feeling that the board has become becalmed in rather slack waters. There is also the criticism, rather often raised, that the board seems to be made up of attenders who, from time to time, have various axes to grind for their own benefit only.

The criticism is unfairly directed against the faithful corps who for many years have kept this organization functioning, and of value. But that it has some basis is obvious at times.

Our point is that the criticism is misdirected. The fault, if fault there is, lies not with those who are willing to shoulder the burden of administration, but with the slack disinterest of the general membership.

It is not for the leaders to lead the membership around by the noses, to artificially whip up stimulating debates and discussions, to pamper with programs and entertainment.

Rather, it is for the members to interest themselves in the city and its future, and to support any executive by interested attendance and constant participation.

Such policy, by board members as a whole, will pay off in the general advancement of a co-operative spirit. And the paradox of it is that this will yield the individual gains that otherwise alone seem to preoccupy us.

Tonight's a good time to start building this spirit to a high level.

WE'VE TAKEN IT LONG ENOUGH

The Herald regards, with very real gratification, the reports of this week's city council meeting, in which the mayor urged his fellow council members to give a first priority to the consideration of the roads problem.

If anything really purposeful is to transpire this year, and it must, then there can be no delay whatever in planning for the program.

The situation as it exists is grotesque. Any motorist venturing off Main street, which is kept up by the government and not by the city, finds his car bouncing through holes that are growing by the day. There are a few stretches of acceptable thoroughfare in a disjointed pattern, but in the areas of greatest traffic the situation is deplorable.

Business premises, particularly in any location off Main street, for the past several seasons have been choked with clouds of dust in summer and marooned in bogs in the winter. That these places pay substantial land taxes, in token of their favored business locations, should surely before long be accompanied by some of the trifling amenities of ordinary urban traffic improvements.

First consideration should go to those business routes in the downtown area that are constantly being used by our own residents and by most visitors. There should be improvement before another tourist season results in a repetition of the damning reports of the recent past. Let those local people, who comfort themselves in the notion that other cities in the valley have their share of bad roads, talk to the tourists. They'll soon find out which city in the valley has the worst reputation.

A suggestion aired recently in council has turned attention to the idea of doing some road work on a local improvement basis. Because of the pressure on available funds, this has some merit. But the council will be extremely wise in not depending on it to too great an extent, or in deferring really necessary action on account of such an idea. By the time agreements on local improvements can be reached and put into execution, more than this year will have passed. Arbitrary action might be taken, increasing costs to taxpayers along certain routes, and this might indeed be a reasonable course to help the council through its financial difficulty and, at the same time, wrestle through the road problem.

But even this has its difficulty. Once certain landowners have had to pay for their improvements, they will resent seeing others, at some later time, get something, apparently for nothing. In such a complex bogging down, there would be headaches aplenty. Hence it might be best, at present, to reserve local improvement planning to marginal locations and needs, or for certain extra benefits and improvements. A well-devised and widespread local improvement policy, offered to the whole city at one time, might have a great deal to commend it, but this would have the demerit of having to be awaited for a very long time, in the clumsy negotiations that would develop.

All this adds up to the great value in the council's reaching a clear-cut and long-term recommendation as to policy, so that every resident can know what to expect, and by what method. Councils should know where they're going, and tell people.

There can be no more fanning of the air on such roadwork planning, in a situation made all the worse by the "road improvement" fiasco of a couple of years ago, probably the worst blunder in the history of the city's public works.

And when such planning is programmed, the city will want assurance that its various parts, some of them of a permanent nature and others of a necessarily temporary quality, will be administered and supervised so as to get best results, and with every alibi put where it belongs. News that such work was to be done by a contracting bidder would be received with favor—that's what should have happened in the earlier and, as it worked out, disastrous program when all we got for a lot of money was a prolonged shouting-fest.

No council in any one year deserves all the discredit that comes its way here as the townspeople turn a jaundiced eye on their streets. It's been a continuing case of a lack of funds, made the worse through mistakes, perhaps, but nevertheless insufficiently propped up with the wherewithal to begin with. It also follows, however, that the first council to really show commendable progress for the money expended will earn the lasting gratitude of all of us.

Perhaps this year will be the one. It was a good omen, anyway, when at this week's council meeting His Worship asked that the top item on the planning schedule should involve roads, and that no time be lost in getting to grips with what has to be done.

ONCE A YEAR

This is the time of year when most firms have what is called the annual staff banquet, an affair at which dozens of elderly executives finally get around to dancing with the girl in the accounting department who looks like Rita Hayworth.

In some years of experience with these affairs, as both reporter and participant, I am aware that not all the staff members anticipate these banquets with joy. There are always a number of cynics who await the event with the loathing reserved for staff picnics, gatherings of relatives, jury service and similar functions of duty.

It is considered a proper approach to attend the banquet reluctantly. In the weeks before the party everyone talks about the dreadful necessity ahead. In the weeks after the party everyone talks about the wonderful time had by one and all.

A certain amount of alcoholic spirits are a part of such affairs, usually in the form of a punch of somewhat the same color and taste of high octane gasoline, and many of the junior clerks and office boys leave early, having grossly over-estimated their capacity. For weeks afterwards the younger staff members will gather in groups to speculate on the ingredients in the fatal brew.

The only other serious casualties will be the older, married men who, having danced all evening with a succession of dazzling stenographers, will almost certainly arrive home with a smidge of innocent lip rouge on their collar.

Many men have the annual experience of awakening to be confronted with this circumstantial evidence and the coldly polite enquiry of their wives: "Well, Lochinvar?"

Next to being caught with a smoking revolver there is nothing quite so damning as that red badge of departmental conviviality.

There is something about these staff banquets—and, of course, the punch—that breaks down all the walls of human relationships among people who work together.

Two fellow employees may recognize each other only as vaguely familiar faces to be nodded at in elevators, but will greet each other with loud cries of affection on meeting at the punch bowl, calling each other by their first names (or what they hope are their first names) and just generally acting as if this were a deathless friendship.

Department heads, ordinarily thought of as a combination of Simon Legree and Nero, suddenly assume the benevolent features of good fellows and insist on being called by their nicknames.

It is all a little reminiscent of those Christmas days in the army, when the officers would serve the men breakfast in their bunks, a day of splendid democracy unhampered by the knowledge that things would shortly return to what for want of a better name, we call normal.

More than that, the staff banquet uncovers an amazing amount of personality ordinarily hidden behind the day-by-day routine of the job. The fellow a few desks away turns out to be a magnificent tenor. The quiet little girl who runs the elevators is a hula-dancer of unsuspected talents. So it goes. The tycoons sit back, momentarily out of the spotlight, and the anonymous people of the payroll list blossom like the night-blooming flowers.

What a happy, talented, fun-loving, altogether splendid company of people you all are! And won't you have just one more glass of punch, dear old pal of mine, whatever your name is?

NEWS FROM Victoria

By J. K. Nesbitt

VICTORIA—With announcement the 1951 session of the Legislature will open February 20 preparations are in full swing in the Legislative Buildings.

Cabinet ministers are holding several meetings each week preparing their estimates. Finance Minister Herb Anscomb sits with a tough grin and tells his colleagues they want to spend too much of the people's money. Each minister, naturally, thinks his department is the most important. Mr. Anscomb looks them all over with a cold, calculating eye. Even so—there are indications he'll have to find $7,000,000 more for the coming year than he did for the current fiscal year. Costs are certainly not going down and education and social services are an ever-increasing burden.

This observer has long thought it might be a good idea and much more efficient if a session of the Legislature came every two years, as in some of the States. It would save money, too—about $200,000 a year.

The way it is now not much is done for about six weeks after a session. The ministers are tired and they must visit their home constituencies. Then comes the summer, and holiday time, and by the time Autumn comes the government says, in effect: "Well now, we mustn't make too many important decisions—the session will soon be on and we must consult the representatives of the people."

Actually, there doesn't seem any real good reason why there should be a session each year. Of course, the system will never be changed. Only the MLAs can change it—and they're not willing to give up $3,000 a session.

Apparently the government is going to ignore the vacancy in Esquimalt until after the session. This is a bad slap at the people of that riding—and for political reasons. Esquimalt should rise up in its wrath and demand the by-election before the session. Neither Premier Johnson nor Tory leader Anscomb are happy about Esquimalt, for they know there's going to be a family squabble to get the nomination, with Liberals and Conservatives fighting each other. And so they're going to ignore Esquimalt as long as they can. It doesn't seem quite the kind of democracy we talk so much about.

There's going to be a State Ball at Government House this session, and the capital is greatly excited. There hasn't been a State Ball since 1938. It will follow the opening of the House and the first State Dinner. Lieut. Governor Clarence Wallace is now being measured for his Court uniform—white satin knee breeches, white silk stockings, black slippers with silver buckles, a jacket loaded down with brass buttons and gold braid. This he will wear to the State Dinner and Ball.

Madame Speaker Nancy Hodges is going to England after the session, though she says she doesn't know anything about it yet and has practically denied newspaper reports that she will take the trip. Premier Johnson also has said he has heard nothing about the trip.

But it's generally known Madame Speaker, who is English born, is going to Britain to dedicate the 108-foot Douglas fir Flagpole sent by British Columbia for the Festival of Britain.

Last summer Madame Speaker represented B.C. at Newfoundland birthday celebrations in St. John's.

Final Ultimatum

"The only people we saw in the house were Mr. and Mrs. Carlson," stated Mr. Sheridan adding that the other Children of Light were probably congregated in the kitchen and two bedrooms.

He refuted reports read in Vancouver dailies that only candles were being used, that no fire was burning in the house. Mr. Sheridan, who is a next-door neighbor to the scene of religious activity said, "all that about candles was nonsense. I've seen lights on in the house. I've been in the house on countless occasions and everything was the same to me when I saw Mrs. Carlson on Monday night."

NOT DANGEROUS
The school board secretary told The Herald that the so-called Children of Light are "not dangerous people."

"But they are misguided," he asserted. "And that's the reason why we aren't rushing the matter—we intend to give them every break possible."

"There were reporters from the Vancouver Sun with us when we called to interview Mrs. Carlson and they were ordered out of the house," Sheridan said.

MILLIONS INTERESTED
Since "strange doings" in the sturdy farmhouse located in a Keremeos apple orchard were reported in The Herald exactly a week ago, avid press and radio coverage has presented the story to an audience of millions.

It has captivated the people of an entire continent, who don't quite know what to make of the mysterious, religious zealots who call themselves The Children of Light.

Here are some of the highlights in the dramatic "Keremeos Incident".

On Monday, Mrs. Grace Agnes Carlson, 35-year-old leader of the Children of Light and reputed to be "quite a preacher," told reporters that she and her followers were "waiting for a meeting with God."

"We hope to meet with God but we don't know in what form: only God knows that," she asserted.

She asserted with obvious conviction: "I am not a prophet or a prophetess and I never have predicted one end of the world."

VOLUNTARY SURRENDER
"We are neither fools nor fanatics. We are not a sect and we have no intention of breaking the law," she stated, adding that the 35 self-confined cultists surrendered without weapons, but with marriage certificates voluntarily.

It was reported that money received by the Children of Light after give-away sales of a new English dictionary, sold only $100—was used to extricate the group from debt.

Weird rituals, including the wearing of white clothing and burning of a wheel-shaped piece of paper, were reported to have been reported emanating from the farmhouse.

NOCTURNAL FORAY
After a nocturnal foray by a group of "zealots" who smashed a window and used a flash camera in an abortive attempt to gain custody of 16-year-old Robert McLean, the youth was returned to his mother Tuesday.

He was released to his mother, Mrs. Adelaide Mueller, a Keremeos restaurant owner, who went to the farmhouse with RCMP officials. A warrant issued under the Child Protection Act was obtained by Penticton lawyer P. D. O'Brien.

"It wasn't necessary to force the boy from the house," Mr. O'Brien told a Herald reporter. "I suppose he just 'saw the light'."

Mayor Names Committees

There was one notable change in the appointments of city aldermen to standing committees for 1951.

Mayor W. A. Rathbun appointed Alderman W. D. Haddleton as chairman of the domestic water works committee in place of Alderman Wilson Hunt who acted in that capacity last year.

Alderman Hunt was, however, posted to what may prove a key position this year, that of city representative on the civil defense committee.

"It is very obvious that considerable work will have to be done in connection with civil defense this year," commented the mayor in making the appointment.

Standing committees for 1951 and council representatives on outside committees were announced by the mayor as follows:

Finance—Alderman E. A. Titchmarsh and Haddleton.
Board of Works—Alderman J. G. Harris and C. Christian.

Irrigation and orchards—Aldermen O. Phipps and Hunt.
Electric light, traffic—Aldermen Hunt and Titchmarsh.

Sanitation, fire department, social welfare and domestic water—Alderman Haddleton and Phipps.
Land sales, zoning, public relations, industrial development—Aldermen Christian and Harris.

The first named are chairman. REPRESENTATIVES
Irrigation Commission—Alderman Phipps.
Civil defense—Alderman Hunt.
Hospital board—Alderman Christian.
Penticton Golf Club—Mayor Rathbun.
B.C. Aviation Council—Alderman Hunt.
Okanagan Health Unit—Alderman Harris.

Fire Damage To Hub Recreations Building Estimated At $15,000

Damage incurred in the fire at the Hub Recreations building, early last Sunday has been estimated at "about $15,000."

This was disclosed, shortly before press time today, when Nell McKerracher, proprietor, told the Herald that the insurance company adjusters had completed their task and official figures would be issued shortly.

Fire Chief H. M. Foreman, who with an official of the provincial fire marshal's office, conducted an investigation, declared that the origin of the fire is unknown.

The four undamaged bowling alleys will be open to the public tonight. Work on replacement of the other six will start early next week.

More Road Work

many others would escape. "If we have to raise extra money I think it would be fairer to raise the mill rate," he said.

The mayor asked Alderman Haddleton if he didn't realize that a paved road increases the value of property.

"The doubt about that, but I still think the most equitable method would be to raise the mill rate," Alderman Haddleton replied.

Commented Alderman E. A. Titchmarsh, "I'm interested in the discussion, but as yet I am not sure which side I am on."

Alderman Wilson Hunt wanted to know what would happen if, for example, the people on Moose Jaw street wouldn't go in on such a scheme. "Would it remain a quagmire?" he asked.

"We would maintain it as a secondary road but they wouldn't get a paved road," explained Alderman Harris.

Alderman Titchmarsh was in agreement that such a scheme would lead to keeping other roads, not ready for paving, in better condition.

The mayor was all for it. "Just think, suppose we set aside $40,000 for blacktopping, under a local improvements scheme we would get it done for $20,000 leaving $20,000 for building up secondary roads."

Alderman Titchmarsh suggested that various organizations around town should be asked to give their views. "After all it is a matter for the people themselves to decide."

Alderman Haddleton complained that people in outlying districts would have to wait until all, or nearly all, the property on their particular streets was built up. "They might wait for ever on that basis," he said.

"And if some want it and others don't what do we do then?" COMPULSORY ASSESSMENT
To this Alderman Harris suggested the council could, if it thought necessary, assess the property owners not willing to join in for a voluntary basis to the extent of 25 percent of the cost. "This was done in the case of Kingsway in Vancouver," he said.

Alderman Haddleton remained unconvinced. "People paying taxes are entitled to roads without extra impositions," he asserted.

The mayor charged Alderman Haddleton was not a realist. "All it will cost is $5 or $10 a year over a period of five years but the minute a property owner gets a paved road in front of his place the value of the property jumps about $500. I would be tickled to go in on such a scheme."

The subject was then dropped with the thought that perhaps property owners would express their views.

"I don't think we could turn down a petition for a road on a local improvements plan if we received one," said the Mayor to conclude the lengthy debate.

The only way to make your body continue to function well is to give it a rest in a while—relaxation and sleep can do wonders when you are physically or mentally exhausted.

School Cafeteria

with the first day's operations. "For the first day, it's going nicely," said Mrs. Burch, "I don't think there'll be any trouble at all once the children get the idea of what they are supposed to do and what they are supposed to take."

H. D. Pritchard, high school principal, watched the proceedings with interest. "We are quite pleased with the first day," he said. "The only fault we had to find was that perhaps some of the smaller children had too much on their plates."

Teachers were pleased with the number of children using the cafeteria. "A lot of them still bring their lunches, but I expect that before very long we shall have many more here every day," one of them said.

Also assisting in the opening day operations were D. P. O'Connell, elementary school principal and M. D. Caldwell, assistant principal.

Hauling of 800 cubic yards of shale, destined for city streets will be delayed until the weather breaks. Patching of pot holes with blacktop is also held up until frost leaves the ground.

TO ASK BETTER PROTECTION
Mayor W. A. Rathbun was instructed by council to meet with the RCMP here to see if better protection could be offered for the Council as critical of the protection afforded at the early Sunday morning fire at The Hub Repreations building.

Mrs. W. S. Reeder Again Heads Red Cross Branch

Another successful year of community service was written into the annals of Penticton's hard-working Red Cross branch at its annual meeting Monday night.

More than 50 members crowded into the Red Cross center on Main street to hear a detailed account of 1950 activities which chronologically featured aid to victims of January's cold snap, the "Operation Mercy" success and assistance given in the rescue operation that saved the passengers who crashed in the ill-fated OPA air-liner December 23.

Now the Red Cross workers are all ready for future successes and Mrs. W. S. Reeder will be at their helm for the second consecutive year. She was the only nomination for president and members ignored her expressed desire for retirement.

Serving on her executive will be Mrs. C. C. MacDonald, first vice-president; Mrs. W. Hanlon, second vice-president; Mrs. W. Newton, secretary; C. G. Bennett, treasurer; G. J. Winter, disaster services; Miss A. Mason and Miss J. Appleton, public health; Mrs. J. Howe, Junior Red Cross; Mrs. E. Matlock, blood transfusions and J. Petley, Red Cross center director.

DEFINITELY LAST YEAR

"This is definitely the last year I wish to serve as president," Mrs. Reeder asserted. "It will be a difficult one... but they all are," she added reflectively.

Her first official act of 1951 was the appointment of J. Van Winkle to the post of campaign manager, which she termed one of the toughest jobs in Red Cross operations.

After the minutes were read by Mrs. C. J. McKee to an audience which included members of the Elks Club, Rebekah Lodge, Gyrus Club, auxiliary, Canadian Legion auxiliary, Oddfellows and Foresters, the Women's Institute, Rotary Club and Junior Red Cross, Mrs. Reeder took over.

"Noble ideas are often born out of terrible experiences," and the Red Cross was such an idea," she began, explaining the Red Cross advent into international prominence at the Geneva conference in 1864, its founding in Canada in 1896 and its debut into Penticton affairs in 1909.

MUST WORK FOR PEACE

"In an age of dividing forces, mankind looks for something to blaze a trail out of confusion and despair," Mrs. Reeder added, "and that's another responsibility of the Red Cross. We must help to bring peace on earth."

Committee chairmen rendered reports on "a most active year." Mrs. Matlock, leader of the blood transfusions committee, blamed 1950's late fruit crop for Penticton's failure to meet its self-imposed quota of blood donations.

Two clinics held here in May and October produced a total of 1188 blood donors. "That figure," she said, with apparent satisfaction, "was well above average and exceeded the quota set down for us by the provincial council."

Though he praised local efforts of the Red Cross in last month's air disaster, Mr. Winter stated in his disaster services report that "organization would have made the job much easier and the crash proved that our job has only begun." He said there was considerable trouble experienced in obtaining personnel for volunteer work but "increased membership would solve that problem."

Reporting on the local Red Cross financial condition, C. G. Bennett noted general account receipts of $5,621.19 and paid tribute to Red Cross center director Jack Petley. "Fuel costs were only $163," he explained, "and the total centre expenses totaled a mere $689."

Indication of Red Cross interest among the younger set was gleaned from the report of Miss Virginia Bailey, Junior Red Cross representative and vice-president of the high school's student council, which gave food and clothing to an adopted German family, and Christmas hampers and welfare aid to a burned-out family.

Miss Mary McKay added more JRC information, outlining the week she enjoyed at Jasper National Park as Penticton's delegate to the JRC conference attended by Montana, Washington, Utah, Alberta and B.C. representatives.

Mrs. Margaret Tidball, swimming and water safety supervisor, told of a successful year of teaching. She paid tribute to the Rotary Club for financing the Red Cross classes. A total enrolment of 540 children were coached by five instructors.

Lauding the "favorable publicity" of The Herald and Station CKOK, Mrs. Reeder came up with a brand new post for Mrs. G. Finnis, who will serve as publicity chairman.

Alert Telephone Operator And Efficient Fire Fighting Crew
Combine To Save Hub Building

Alertness of Miss Elsie Sundry, Okanagan Telephone Company night operator, gave the city's fire fighters a fighting chance, which they took, to control the blaze which threatened to raze the Hub Recreation building on Nanaimo avenue early Sunday morning.

"The firemen did a wonderful job. I can't praise them highly for the way they handled it," declared Neil McKerracher, operator of the Hub Bowling Alley, whose expensive alleys and bowling equipment escaped with comparatively small damage.

Fire Chief Mary Foreman gives considerable credit to Miss Sundry for her prompt action in making enquiries when several "line out" signals came in.

"Any considerable delay would have found us facing a real tough one," commented the chief. "As it was, thanks to Miss Sundry's alertness, we were on the job in time."

The fire started in a store-room behind the Hub cafe and spread to the upper floor where the alleys are located. A number of telephone wires were burned through or broken. Noting that all signals came from the Hub building Miss Sundry telephoned the taxi dispatcher's office in that building and asked him to investigate.

Thick black smoke and the fact that the fire had got between ceiling and floors made it a difficult one to fight.

Slight lifting of the hardwood strips, due to action of the water, has put six of the ten alleys out of commission and further damage resulted from the necessity of chopping away gutters to permit fighting of the fire from above.

The store room was completely gutted.

Naramata Fire Brigade will receive the loan of an A.R.F. siren from the city's fire department. City Council readily agreed to loan the siren when it was confirmed that two sirens, relics of the last war, were in storage and not likely to be needed.

"News" is formed from the first letters of North, East, West and South.

City Firemen To Learn
Latest In Firefighting

Information on the latest methods of fire fighting will be passed on to members of Penticton's fire department by instructors from the provincial fire marshal's office on Wednesday and Thursday next.

Instruction in the use of small extinguishers and other "first aid" fire fighting equipment will be given and hose drill will be carried out. This is the third time that the travelling school has visited this city.

Local Man Fined For Assaults On
Members Of Sect

"A few drinks," after he had received news of his father's death in a Russian concentration camp, were said to be responsible for the actions of Peter Hrycyna, of Penticton, who, on November 18, assaulted two local members of the Jehovah's Witnesses and used abusive language, declaring them to be "communists" and "dirty religionists."

Hrycyna pleaded guilty to two charges of assault and one of creating a disturbance in a public place, when he appeared before Magistrate G. McLeland, in police court Friday. Fines and costs totalling $49.50 were imposed.

Frank C. Christian, counsel for the Witnesses, stated that Hrycyna attempted to wrest magazines from the grasp of a man who was offering the books to the public, and later, the same evening, shouted abusive language that caused a crowd of some 30 people to gather.

Gordon Halerow, appearing for Hrycyna, declared his client to be "illiterate. He did not realize the full implications of his remarks," Mr. Halerow then explained the circumstances of the death of the defendant's father in Russia.

In imposing the fines, in the assault cases, Magistrate G. A. McLeland, admonished "this is a free country. These people have the same rights as you or I. If they want to distribute leaflets, then let them. If you don't like it, then move away and leave them alone."

During the hearing of the disturbance case, the magistrate stated, "I cannot see that this is an ordinary case. There does not appear to be any circumstances to warrant the disturbance."

It was revealed in evidence that the defendant had been drinking

Waiting List For Arena Concessions

The Kinsmen Club joined the waiting list of those interested in operating concessions at the Penticton Memorial Arena.

Application of the Kinsmen, submitted to council Monday, was filed along with other concession requests which City Clerk H. G. Andrew said had been received.

"Applications for concessions and other matters dealing with the operation of the arena will be turned over to whatever group takes over the management of the arena," Mayor W. A. Rathbun said.

No decision has yet been reached by council as to who will manage the arena, which is now under construction.

with friends, who told him that the Jehovah's Witnesses were "a bunch of communists."

Mr. Halerow explained that his client was of Russian extraction and violently opposed to the communist way of life.

Fines of $2.50 and costs were imposed on two Penticton residents who pleaded guilty in police court yesterday, to violating city traffic by-laws.

Omegas Out To Maintain Winning Streak Against Crack U.S. Team

Cranna's classy Omegas are all set to learn something about the great American way Saturday night. It will be demonstrated by the Wenatchee Cusick Engineers, a top-ranking Washington State aggregation which might blemish the local league-leaders' win-'em-all record. The Engineers have a reputation for plenty of speed and power, for deadly sniping that has toppled the opposition in nine out of 10 current season contests.

For Penticton basketball fans, this game is a "must". The American way on a cage floor is certainly the world's best... and the Engineers are rather confident that they know all about it.

The visitors line-up features plenty of height, most of it in the person of Al Libke, a former major league and Pacific Coast league ball-player.

Bucketman Libke won't be using the "high, hard one" against the locals but is expected to show why he is rated as the Engineers' prolific point-getter. Al stands six feet, five inches in his stocking feet.

Another star is towering Bob "Stretch" Garrett, a forward who matches team mate Libke in height and usually controls any rebound that drops within ten feet of him.

Others on the visiting squad are Dick Nelson, Jay Palmquist, Larry Perry, Darrel Cusick, Forrest Simon, Warren Draft, Earl Cusick, Ken Umbarger and Vernon Ball, a crack 16-year-old playing his first season in senior company.

The feature goes at 9 p.m. and a preliminary contest has been arranged to entertain early arrivals.

Sportsmen Plan For Next Season

At the regular meeting of the Penticton Sportsmen's Association held at the Legion Hall Friday night, resolutions were passed covering open seasons and hunting regulations for next season. These will be presented at the meeting of the southern district council of the association to be held in Penticton January 21.

The meeting supported the action of the local B.C.F.A. and city council, in asking for the establishment of beaver in the Ellis and Penticton creek watersheds. Full support was promised to the formation of a junior association among the school children. Ralph Shaw of the public school staff will have charge of this work.

KELOWNA—Slowness in recovery from his recent injury to his ankle at Kamloops is given as the reason why John Kupsek still is off duty as a Mahline-Okanagan Hockey League referee. He originally planned to be back before the end of the year.

Local Skiers Out In Force Sunday

An enthusiastic crowd of about seventy-five skiers enjoyed the first day of the season at the Elkhorn Ski Bowl. Six inches of fresh powder snow on a good base made excellent skiing conditions. However, skiers are still hoping for more snow as it doesn't take long to whisk the snow off the slopes.

The road was in very good condition having been plowed by the government. Ski instruction was given both morning and afternoon. No serious mishaps marred the day. It is hoped there will be a greater number out this coming Sunday.

The bus leaves from the Hickory Shop Sunday morning at nine o'clock—fare 75c return.

Members of the club are advised that memberships must be paid up by this Sunday. They are available from any member of the executive or from Brett's Sport Shop.

KAMLOOPS—Kamloops Elks romped to an easy 11-0 win over the Kerrisdale Monarchs in an MOAHL fixture here last Thursday.

Penticton Herald - SPORTS

THE PRETTY BOY WRESTLER, Gorgeous George, legally George Raymond Wagner for the first 34 years of his life, went into court at Los Angeles, recently, to have his nom de plume approved for all purposes. Gorgeous arrived at court in a deep violet suit, yellow shirt and hanky and, since he left his valet at home, his wife, Betty, arranged his golden curls before his court appearance.

Rasslers In-And-Out Of Ring Delight Fans; Capacity Crowd Monday

The Monday night wrestling card again proved to be a huge success with another full house sitting through the three bouts that started with a little feminine "Pat-a-cake" and ended with a free-for-all as much out of the ring as in it.

May Corrie and "Ginger" O'Hara put on a good show to start the card and showed some knowledge of wrestling but lacked the weight or desire to put it over. Neither lady scored a fall and the affair ended in a draw.

Li' Abner and Cliff Parker took over next and as usual Parker was the "stinker" and Abner the innocent victim of the underhanded tactics. A new twist was added when Parker won the bout to the surprise of everyone as the program said that Hero Abner would win.

The scrap got a bit rough at times but mostly followed the pattern of a series of roll-polly tactics, then a few dirty rabbit punches with the odd hair pull thrown in for good measure.

RIP-ROARING BATTLE
The main event was a rip-roaring affair that had the fans (and especially the ladies) on the edge of their seats from the time Tarzan Potvin came out of his corner complete with gestures, and a real live set of ears mounted on his chest. A new twist was added when Robinson's hair. How he accomplished this with only two fingers on one hand is still a mystery but he did it.

Clare Robinson had the better build of the two but Potvin looked heavier as the two rugged individuals really proceeded to fight, and the scrap was on.

Clair turned on the heat and threw Tarzan for four quick throws that could be felt in the last row. Tarzan retaliated by pinning his opponent to the floor and giving him a brick head massage with his foot. A little game of "Row! Row! Row your boat" followed this with Robinson tying Potvin between his legs and giving him the squeeze.

BATTLE OUTSIDE RING
Robinson scored the first fall after a series of bounces off the ropes and some fancy body checks that were too much for the stocky Tarzan. From here on in the two tough guys caught fire and bodies were flying all over the school gym with Robinson being the first to find himself lying in the first row.

That was the cue and the scrapping was not confined to the ring from then on with both men rolling and punching each other all through the crowd of screaming, blood-thirsty fans.

They managed to climb back into the ring for the finish. Both wrestlers were near exhaustion, or so they would have you believe, as the curtain was wrong down after Robinson had scored another fall that gave him the decision.

All-in-all a real battle and a crowd pleaser.

Triple Victory For High School Cagers

Penticton high school hoop teams made short work of their opponents from the Similkameen in the triple bill Saturday night in Penticton. The junior boys, senior girls and senior boys all chalked up impressive victories.

The first contest was a runaway for the home team with the juniors trampling all over the Similkameen juniors 69 to 17. It was a free-for-all for the local lads with Getz managing to grab the biggest piece of pie with 16 points. J. McLaren was high man for the losers with eight points.

ANOTHER FOR THE GIRLS
The senior girls followed with another Penticton win, this time 21 to 8. It was another inspired contest with the visitors managing to score the grand total of two points in the first half while the Lakettes tallied eight. Audrey Leir was chief marksman with nine points while the top scorer for the Similkameen lassies was Tanton with six.

LOPSIDED
The feature game followed much the same pattern that had been set by the preliminary contests with Pen Hi Lakettes waiting away with a 70 to 29 lopsided victory over the Similkameen senior boys.

The game started with a bang and the home team raced into the lead led by Charlie Maisonneuve who racked eight points of his 19 points to put the home team ahead 39 to 11 at the half-time whistle.

The Lakettes continued to pour on the coals in the second half by out-scoring the visitors 31 to 18 to run the final score to 70 to 29. Maisonneuve took the high scoring honors with his 19 tallies, followed by big Jim Boulding who contributed 14 points to the cause. W. Clifton was high man for the losers with 10 points.

Lineups — Pen Hi Lakettes: Kenyon 8, Boulding 14, Foley-Bennet 3, Johnston 7, Maisonneuve 19, Dow 2, Ball 8, Jeffery 2, Boultee, Betts 2 — 70.

Similkameen Sr. Boys — Clifton 10, D. Schmitt 2, J. Reel 2, E. Shields 4, F. Richter 3, T. McEwen 3, E. Forner 1, R. Reimer 4 — 29.

Pen Hi Lakettes — McKee 8, Riddell, Leir 9, Constable 1, Corbett 2, Tomlin, Bird J., Hyndman, Raptis, Burch, Phillips — 70.

Similkameen Sr. Girls — Tanton 6, Shields, Schmunk, Wiles 2, Boul Hodgson, Vansanten, Knowles, C. Drasset — 8.

Penticton Junior Boys — M. Ishikawa 8, Ehnman 3, R. Getz 16, G. McDonald 9, C. Burch 11, Tidball 8, Castron 4, Drossos 6, Rainbow, Burgart 4 — 69.

The Company owns outright six crown granted mineral claims in the Slocan Area of British Columbia, approximately 3 miles by road from Sandon, B.C. The property is equipped with buildings and machinery, the Vendors having spent some $50,000.00 on development and equipment. Previous operators have extracted an appreciable tonnage of ore which at present prices would average $140.00 per ton.

FINANCING

Completion of present financing will net the Company Treasury $67,500.00. This amount is estimated to be sufficient to bring the property into production until sufficient ore is proven to justify the construction of a mill on the property. In the meantime ore can be milled at one of several custom mills in the area.

Perhaps one of the most pleasing Christmas cards received by members of the fire department this year was one which read, "thanks to you and your crew, I am here to enjoy Christmas."

The card was signed Ron Du Temple, a young Victoria man, who fractured his neck last summer when diving into shallow water in Okanagan Lake. He was under water for some time before being rescued and it was only the unremitting efforts of the department's inhalator squad which saved his life.

Oliver School Hoopsters Win

OLIVER—The Green Hornets of the Southern Okanagan High School entertained three teams from the Summerland High on Friday night and in each case the home team was victorious.

In the senior boys' contest Bill Macleod's smooth-working team quickly built up a good lead, which they increased as the game went along. The issue was never in doubt, as indicated by the 68-28 final score. By the end of the first quarter, the home team had a 24-8 lead, with MacIntosh, Graham and Mickey Martino sharing scoring honors. Weitzel, one of the standout players of the game tallied seven for Summerland in this period. The scoring pace slowed down in the second quarter and at half time the Hornets led 38-16.

Martino and Graham turned on the heat again in the third quarter to give the home team a 60-25 lead at the breather and the winners coasted in the final period, winning 68-28. MacIntosh topped all scorers with 20 points followed by Martino with 17 and Graham with 14. Weitzel led the losers with 18 points, Brawner with seven being the only other Summerland player to show accuracy at the hoop.

Summerland—Weitzel, 18; Fisher, Munn, 2; Nesbitt, Brawner, 7; Naire, 1; Youngusband; Thompson—28.

Green Hornets — MacIntosh 20, Graham 14, Fritz 4, M. Martino 17, Fitzpatrick 5, Guidi, W. Martino 2, Hopkins 4, Meagher, Thomas 2—68.

SHORT-HANDED
The Summerland girls arrived short-handed, with only six players, and tired rapidly on the large floor with the result that the Hornets, after enjoying a slim two point lead at half-time, easily ran out a 31-19 win as the game ended. The home team scored in the final session, among ten players as the substitutes made frequent appearances on the floor.

For Summerland, Kean was a tireless worker and scored eight of her team's points. Trafford found the range toward the end of the game for six.

Summerland — Kean, 8; Fleming, Trafford, 6; Kilx, 1; Jomori, 2; Wilson, 2—19.

Hornets—Alexander, 4; Pollock, 2; L. Endreny, 3; F. Endreny, 2; Horner, 3; Eisenhut, 5; Goldsbury 2; Zarelli, Riller, Venables, 3; Stowell, 5; Weddell, 2—31.

In a rather ragged junior game, the Oliver team took a close 23-22 win over Summerland, but only as time ran out with a strong Summerland rally going did the Oliver defense collapse in the final session. Bades of Oliver and Raham of Summerland each scored 11 points.

Pat Gibb, Jake Longmore and Paul Eisenhut handled the games.

ALMOST GOOD ENOUGH to work himself out of a job is Police Chief Hingsworth of Durham, Ont. For the second straight year he reported no youngster had been brought into court for even minor offences. He credited the town's record to sports programs for the children and to the parents' co-operation. Citizens say the chief himself is responsible for the absence of juvenile delinquency.

Assessment Figures Testimony To Growth Of City During 1950

The 1951 city council received with undisguised jubilation the year-end report of city assessor S. N. Cornock, which confirmed in hard figures that Penticton continued its progressive expansion in 1950 and that indications for 1951 are equally bright.

"A splendid report," declared Mayor W. A. Rathbun. A breakdown of assessments shows that taxable values on land and improvements have been augmented over 1950 values by $1,071,147 and general revenue, based on the 53-mill rate of 1950, will be increased by $34,164.75.

Also outstanding in Mr. Cornock's report was the fact that the staggering sum of $3,712,954 was expended in real estate deals during 1950. And there is a backlog of uncompleted buildings under construction in 1950 which when completed will add another $2,000,000 to the value of assessable property.

BIG JUMP
The assessments for 1951 set down a total value of land and improvements of $15,633,332, which represents a boost of $1,227,675 over the 1950 total. Land values went up $257,803 and improvements alone soared almost to the $1,000,000 mark. Mr. Cornock reports that efforts in 1950 were directed to the painstaking task of correcting errors in calculation or information on previous assessments; bringing depreciation allowances up to date; reviewing certain areas in which expansion has altered land valuations; valuation of all new structures and checking all buildings in the category of unfinished valuations.

The assessor claims that the 1951 assessments will change depreciation allowances on all structures. Reviewing every assessment card and property in the city, his staff corrected each allowance and slashed about $200,000 in taxable buildings from the assessment roll. "From now on, every structure in the city shall receive an annual reduction according to type up to a maximum of 50 per cent of the basic evaluation," Mr. Cornock reports. "When condemnations or obsolescence affects property, allowances beyond the maximum will be granted."

RAPID TURNOVER
Turnover of land within the city and in urban areas was so rapid that intensive revision was necessary to retain a balance in assessment with similar properties. Incidentally, the Registrar in Kamloops has on record a total of 728 property changes in Penticton.

In 1950, Mr. Cornock received plans for 57 sub-divisions and a total of 74 new lots were created by sub-division.

Assessor Cornock based the assessments this year on the 1950 level because of instability noted in the figures for building costs.

"If this instability continues this year, an upward swing in the assessment base for 1951 will be most necessary," Mr. Cornock predicts.

He does not include in his report the conclusions he has drawn during the past year on irrigation. "I have collected a great deal of information

Letters To The Editor

Correspondence will be carried by the Herald only when it is accompanied by the writer's name and address.

The Editor,

Penticton Herald.

REASSURED

It was with great pleasure that we were able to read the wonderful reply made by Mr. Workman, of Naramata, to Mr. Broderick's letter, in your column of the Penticton Herald. It reassured us that the Canadian people are not all joined in supporting the war of hatred, which letters like Mr. Broderick's letter promote.

I will take the privilege of speaking for all Americans. If they feel different, then they have no right to call themselves Americans. We bear no malice or hatred towards Canada. Why should we? Why should the Canadian people feel any differently towards us? As far as I am personally concerned Canada is a wonderful country and so are the people, unless they have changed since 1935, at which time we came back to this country.

It is the Americans' sincerest wish that there will be no hatred between the people of the countries who are striving to keep peace, without oppression, because united we will stand, but when we lose our unity we lose everything. It is becoming very apparent that we are not fighting a war of lethal weapons only, but also a war against prejudice and hate-mongers, who are working from within to weaken every country, and to turn country against country.

I sincerely hope you will publish this letter, so that it may reach the people, especially the people and my relatives of the town near there, which I considered my home town for years. If you are wondering how I read these letters, I will explain that my parents have a subscription to the Herald, and have had for quite some time.

NOT A COMMUNIST

Although I do not want to monopolize the columns of this paper, I would appreciate space to reply to a charge made by Mr. Workman of Naramata, in which he inferred I must be a Communist.

I would like to make it clear to Mr. Workman, and anyone else who might have the same idea that, if I were a Communist I would have no hesitation in proclaiming it, for it would be in all sincerity, believing it to be an improvement for our country.

However, that I am not a Communist should be evident to all who know me, and what I stand for. To the contrary, I am a Technocrat, and neither Communists or Fascists are eligible for membership in that organization. The reason being that we are a North American organization, having borrowed nothing from any foreign culture, and concerned with the distribution of an abundance on this continent. All politicians are upholders of scarcity, and the institutions which thrive on scarcity conditions. Both Communism and Fascism are dependent on a scarcity environment for their operation, and cannot exist where an abundance is being distributed.

Opposed To Joint Wage Negotiations

Suggestion from Kamloops that the valley municipalities combine to arrive at a uniform wage schedule for firemen met with mixed reception in council Monday.

Alderman W. D. Haddleton was dead against it on the grounds that the city could negotiate a better agreement by dealing direct with its own department. "This getting together looks too much as if we are ganging up on the firemen," Alderman Haddleton declared.

"There is merit in that argument," Mayor Rathbun conceded. Council, as a whole, was favorable to the first step, that of a suggested exchange of information. To this Alderman Haddleton concurred "provided it wouldn't lead to joint negotiations."

A TOP-TO-BOTTOM PLAN for the reorganization of Ontario's educational system is contained in the 13½-pound, 500,000-word report held by Premier Frost, left, and Mr. Justice J. A. Hope. The report, the result of five years' investigation by a royal commission headed by Mr. Justice Hope, contains 300 recommendations, most controversial of which is the one to limit separate, or Roman Catholic, school training to the age of 12 years. The report, though it may not be adopted in full, may serve as a model for other provinces investigating their educational systems.

Jaycees Claim Parking Meters Not Necessary In Penticton

Opposition to the use of parking meters in this city, as recommended by the city council's traffic committee, was voiced by the Penticton Junior Chamber of Commerce at the first meeting of the new year, last Thursday.

After lengthy discussion the Jaycees instructed that a letter detailing their objections be sent to council. The Jaycees, last year, made a survey of traffic conditions and submitted a report of their findings to the city council. This report recommended the use of parking meters and proper enforcement of traffic and parking regulations as means of solving the parking problem.

METERS NOT REQUIRED

According to this survey made by Ivor Haddleton and Robert Dumont, a proper parking system would solve the space problem and meters would not be required. Opening the discussion, W. D. Tidball quoted from the report of the city council's traffic committee, which suggested that parking meters should be installed on the 280 block, Main street.

Referring to the findings of the traffic committee of the Junior Chamber, the speaker declared, "there are ten policemen down at the courthouse and the city wants to install meters to enforce the law."

COSTLY PROJECT

Ivor Haddleton agreed with the previous speaker, "I am opposed to the idea of parking meters. They would have to be bought outside the city at a cost of around $85 each. I think that the money could be better spent within Penticton."

It was argued by T. Walker that the police will have to supervise the use of parking meters if they are to prove effective. "Why can't they enforce the parking regulations now?" he asked.

R. Johnson declared that the city had never given the parking areas a chance to show if it would work. "I think it should be given a trial run of 60 or 90 days," he said.

Lashley Haggman argued in favor of meters. "There is not a city on the North American continent which has been able to formulate a parking plan without the use of meters," he said.

HONKY TONK TOWN

"As far as traffic control is concerned, Penticton is a honky tonk town," said Mr. Haggman. "We should plan for the future and not merely consider the installation of meters in terms of $85 per unit."

Disagreeing with the claims made by Mr. Haggman that all larger cities have parking meters, Mr. Tidball argued, "Two years ago Los Angeles did not have parking meters in any section of the city," to which Mr. Haggman replied, "They had a police force large enough to have a man on every corner to see that traffic laws were enforced. That is one reason that visitors to this city are the only ones who obey traffic laws. They have been educated in caution."

PLENTY OF SPACE

Speaking of the survey made by himself and Mr. Dumont, Mr. Haddleton declared that it was found that if the parking area system had been in operation there would have been room for four more cars in the 200 block on each side of Main street. "Checks were made at peak periods on two consecutive Saturdays and we found that in most cases, if cars had been parked properly, there would be adequate space throughout the city. I believe that parking areas would solve the problem," he said.

Supporting his previous statements urging planning for the future, Mr. Haggman cited the example of the Okanagan Telephone Company who are making arrangements to have a dial telephone system installed here. "We are not supposed to be letting this city grow, we are supposed to be building it," he declared.

Further references to practices in use in American cities were made by J. Hendry and J. Pettley who said that they had been able to park their cars for as much as four hours at a stretch, when down in the United States, by the continuous insertion of nickels.

"That doesn't solve a parking problem," Mr. Tidball countered. NOT FOR REVENUE

Following a remark that the installation of meters would mean revenue for the city, one member pointed out that the idea was to solve a parking problem by providing space. The idea was not to provide funds for the city.

"I'm not so sure about that," said Mr. Hendry.

President Walter Raeler cut short the debate. "We are threatening to side-track the issue. The question

Thug Attacks Kelowna Girl

KELOWNA — A 14-year-old Five Bridges district girl was viciously assaulted late Thursday night as she was walking home near the junior high school after attending the late show.

Treated in hospital for bruises and shock was Connie McCulley, who was struck in the mouth by her assailant's fist after he threatened her with what he said was a "gun."

Miss McCulley told police a youth emerged quickly from the shadows just south of Mike's Dairy Bar, grabbed her around the neck and pushed something into her back, warning her not to look around or he'd "shoot."

She struggled partly free, turned around, and her attacker slugged her in the face with his fist. Timely arrival of Henry Lucknowsky, on his way home after completing his duties as a Canadian Pacific Telegraph messenger, probably scared the girl's assailant off.

Lucknowsky picked Miss McCulley up off the sidewalk and took her to hospital.

While unable to furnish any reason for the attack, the girl was able to furnish RCMP with a good clue that may lead to the identity of her attacker.

is, do we want parking meters or don't we?"

"I can't see that we can do anything but follow the decision made after our traffic committee's investigation last summer," said T. W. Bryant. Mr. Tidball moved that a letter should be sent to council opposing the installation of parking meters.

The motion was carried with four dissenting votes. Mr. Pettley asked that a request be included in the letter asking for a two minute parking zone outside the post office.

KEREMEOS

Miss J. Dugdale was hostess at the monthly meeting of the St. John's Guild when plans were made for a card party to be held in the Elks Home on Friday evening. Mrs. E. C. Armstrong was in the chair and, in the absence of Mrs. H. T. Tweddle, Mrs. A. Boul recorded. A program for the year was arranged. Mrs. J. C. Clarke was given the authority to purchase material for supplies for members of the girl's choir and Mrs. W. G. Smith and Mrs. F. Gibb offered to assist in making them. Reports for 1950 were received and filed.

Weldon Munden, son of Mr. and Mrs. B. W. Munden, who has been a patient in the Penticton Hospital returned to his home this week.

Recent appointments by the Board of School Trustees, District No. 16 are Mrs. Jean Innis as bus driver and Bruce Graham as janitor.

Miss F. Eberts of Vancouver, a student nurse at UBC recently completed two weeks of field training under the supervision of Miss Pauline Siddons, PHN.

Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Clarke and Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Ritchie left on Wednesday for Oshawa where the latter will pick up a new car. The two couples will visit New York, Boston and other eastern cities. Mr. and Mrs. Ritchie will visit Mrs. Ritchie's people in Sussex, New Brunswick, while Mr. and Mrs. Clarke will go to Beaumont, Texas, for a short stay with Mr. Clarke's brother-in-law and sister, Dr. and Mrs. Tam Brownrigg. They expect to be away about six weeks.

At the semi-monthly meeting of the Royal Purple Lodge No. 83 plans were made for a card party to be held January 19th and for the annual St. Valentine's Ball.

Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Clarke had as their guests over the week-end their daughter, Miss Patty Lou Clarke, their nephew, David Carter, Miss Shirley McLaughlin, all of Vancouver, and Brian Thomson of Yale.

Bang! At New Year's Costs City Man $2.50

One black mark was recorded on the police blotter during the New Year celebrations, when a Pentiction man welcomed in the New Year, with more noise than discretion, by discharging a fire arm on Main street.

The culprit pleaded guilty in police court last week and was fined $2.50 and costs by Magistrate G. A. McLelland.

CANADA'S AIRCRAFT INDUSTRY, stimulated by a $200,000,000 government order, is expanding at a rapid rate, expects to employ 20,000 persons by 1952. Most of the government orders are for jet fighter planes, but thousands of workers will be employed reconditioning the World War II Lancasters and other planes stored since the end of the last conflict.

City's Electrical System Revamped

Rapid expansion of Pentiction's industrial and residential areas produced a hectic 1950 for the city electrical department.

This was manifest in a five-page report submitted to council Monday night by superintendent P. J. Murphy, who outlined the successful efforts of his department to revamp and improve the electricity distribution system.

His statement began with an analysis of conditions in 1949. Primary main feeders were overloaded, causing a drop in voltage and "hyper-heating" of transformers. "This system was very deteriorated," the report read, "and it was 'touch and go' whether we could get through the peak load without a serious outage."

NOT PERFECT YET Now things are changed. The system isn't perfect yet . . . but it was good enough last year to maintain power continuously with the exception of partial outages totaling only 16 hours and one minute.

Mr. Murphy reports that east end circuits took primary importance in 1950 planning. And his department to keep that district's packing and other industrial routines in operation, made an immediate start on construction of a new pole line with heavier conductors of electricity from the substation along Main street to Eckhardt avenue and along Ellis street to Lakeshore and Vancouver avenue.

HEAVIER VOLTAGE This work could only be done when demand was at a minimum. Another "thorn in the side" was an exclusive regulation of the Workmen's Compensation Board. In Pentiction and Summerland, power lines carry 4800 volts, 2000 more than cities in other parts of the province. So local linemen were not permitted by the WCB to handle the "hot" wires, even with rubber gloves.

The department was forced to work on the project only when power was off, necessitating a boost in overtime pay. Then council issued a directive stating overtime would be paid only for emergency jobs.

Quoting losses which would be realized by power shutdowns and overtime pay, Superintendent Murphy maintains in his report that it is more economical to do major construction on a Sunday or holiday.

He rates as a "major job" complete rebuilding this year of the electrical system on East Alley.

OTHER WORK Other accomplishments were: revamping the street-lighting circuits, replacing 2156 street lights; rebuilding of the Railway avenue district; complete revamping of Brandon and Kinney avenue circuits and installation of a three-phase line, from the sub-station to Green Lane, which balanced transformers and renewed several poles. In 1950, electrical workers strung 48½ miles of wire.

To provide council with a vivid idea of how much the kilowatt consumption increased last year, Mr. Murphy recorded in his report a comparison between the 1,161,600 KW figure in November 1949 and the corresponding 1950 total of 1,349,003. This works out to an estimated boost of 2,248,836 kilowatts in the year.

NEW SUB-STATION The superintendent states that several by-law jobs, hold-overs from 1949, were completed, with the exception of a not-too-important job in Fairview industrial park. "The only major by-law project remaining is the construction of the new sub-station, which will feature a main switch to control our whole electrical distribution system," he stated. "This will also provide a complete picture of kilowatt demand, phase-loads, kilowatt consumption, etc."

Other switches, he reports, will control the sub-station on Main street and the west end circuit and space is being reserved for a fourth switch to be utilized in the future, after further civic development.

P-TA News

The first meeting of the year for the primary section is being held tonight in the new cafeteria in the Junior high school building at 8 o'clock.

A panel of speakers from community organizations will talk about their work with the younger children, explaining what they contribute to the welfare and education of the lower age groups. Speaking about the Girl Guide and Brownie movement will be Mrs. Holden, district commissioner; for the Cubs, Mrs. Tidball; for social service, Miss Adams; and for public health, Miss Appleton.

Following the speakers a short question period will be held. During refreshments parents will gather together in class groups with the class mother and teacher for a get-acquainted session. The next meeting of the intermediate section will be held on Wednesday, January 17, in the elementary school. Mrs. D. Stogre, chairman, has planned to have a panel of speakers to discuss the out-of-school activities of the children of the intermediate age group.

Be sure to attend these meetings and give your children your enthusiastic support.

Data On Imports May Lead To New Industries Here

A survey of the imports into this city, to determine what industrial plants might logically be set up here, is to be conducted by representatives of the Department of Trade and Industry of the B.C. government, within the next few days.

With the assistance of the Board of Trade and the Junior Chamber of Commerce department representatives will present questionnaires to retailers asking for type and quantity of imports into Pentiction.

The completed questionnaires will be sent to Victoria for analysis. Experts there will decide from the figures the type of industry that could be set up here as a sound economic proposition.

The survey is part of a government plan to introduce new industries to this province and to decentralize the industry that is already here.

Recently Syd. Cornock, city assessor, compiled a map showing industrial areas available in the city. The map will be included in an industrial index that is to be distributed throughout the world to manufacturers and business houses.

Son-In-Law Of Local Couple Prize Winner

Santa Claus, in the guise of a radio program, visited the American son-in-law of a Pentiction couple, Mr. and Mrs. H. Oke, Edna avenue, and left $1,000 cash prize as a Christmas present.

The winner, Dr. Ray M. Kellogg, an interne at St. Luke's Hospital, Spokane, Washington, previously won $36 in merchandise value and later a bumper prize of $3,600, also in merchandise in radio contests. This time, Dr. Kellogg, submitted the winning entry in a contest, giving his reason, in 50 words or less, why he likes his favorite radio program.

Service Clubs Will Be Kept Informed Of Activities Of Peach Festival Ass'n

City Jaycees Will Bid For 1952 Convention

Penticton Jaycees will attempt to secure the 1952 national Junior Chamber of Commerce convention for this city.

Confident that the new hotel, planned for Martin street, will have adequate facilities to meet the requirements of a large convention, Jaycees at the meeting, Thursday, announced their intention to submit a bid to the national council for next year's convention to be held here.

The convention for this year is to be held at Quebec City in June, when the location for the 1952 convention will be decided.

Brief discussion was held, Thursday, in which it was stated that a convention of the Junior Chamber was held here in 1944 and had proved a success.

Delegates from this city to the Quebec convention will be selected in April.

WIVES INVITED

A light business program is planned by the Penticton Junior Chamber of Commerce for the group's regular meeting, next Thursday, to which wives of members have been invited.

Executive members of the Penticton Peach Festival have launched a "repetition-for-emphasis" campaign to make their 1951 extravaganza bigger and better than ever.

President Len Hill, off to a fast start in the New Year, announces that a series of letters will be sent out to local service clubs, keeping members posted on the latest plans of the association.

"It is our policy to acquaint as many as possible of our citizens with the set-up and aims of the organization and to keep everyone advised of the plans for this year," he asserted.

Elected members of President Hill's new slate are Jack Reiley, first vice-president; Herb Geddes, second vice-president; Allan Longmore, secretary; Jim Johnson, treasurer and Frank Bowfield, immediate past president.

Appointed personnel are Jim Bolton and Bill Tuft, Kinsmen Club; Tom Walker and Jim Hendry, JCC; A. V. H. Agar and Jim Nicol, Lions Club; Dr. John Stapleton and Bill Grant, Kiwanis Club; B. Ewart and Neil McKerscher, Rotary Club and Bill Lemm, Gyro Club.

The 1951 committee, composed entirely of service club members, has already completed two sessions.

"We feel that, if possible, we should operate the concessions, with the exception of rides and side shows, with volunteer help and equipment either rented or owned by the association," Mr. Hill remarks. "And attractions like Fall Fair exhibits, handicrafts and dog shows should be added."

Also under consideration is the prospect of closing the Peach Festival to take advantage of the Labor Day week-end and from September 1 to 3. If the pattern of previous years was followed the event would occur on Aug. 16, 17 and 18.

Exhorting the utmost in co-operation from every city organization, the Festival leaders will clamor for suggestions from service club members to improve methods of selecting the Queen and her Princesses. "Anything to better the show," President Hill concludes.

G. E. Craig Back From Convention

G. Everett Craig, of Penticton, district manager for the North American Life Assurance Co., has returned to his home after attending the recent anniversary sessions in Vancouver, where the 70th year of the company's activities was marked. On that occasion, Ted McEwan, formerly of New Westminster, took over the management of the Vancouver branch succeeding C. J. Keller. The company also decided on the opening of a branch office in Kamloops.

CCF IDEAS COPIED

Mr. Jones opened his remarks with reference to the government's use of CCF ideas, by presenting them in a different form and calling them its own. "There have been occasions when the CCF has aired ideas on the floor of the house and the government has rejected them, only to present them later in Liberal bills which have been passed. This has happened more than once in the case of labor legislation, which, through our efforts, is improving," the speaker declared.

"The CCF party has presented bills for federal aid in education. Each time stumbling blocks have been put in our way.

"What sort of curriculum would you have? What rate of pay would you advise for B.C. teachers? Would you have the same standard of education across Canada? These are some of the questions that have been asked us and on most occasions we have been able to give satisfactory answers.

AGAINST VARIATION

"I do not believe there should be the variation in education programs that there is. There is the case of Newfoundland which did not have compulsory education until 1946. On the other hand we have B.C. where the standard of education is fairly high.

"It is a difficult problem to solve. If grants were made on the basis of buildings, for example, it would

O.L. Jones M.P. Reviews International, National And Domestic Issues

Need for light industries to counterbalance the bad years in the valley's fruit growing industry, the urgent need for immediate action to have the natural gas pipeline from Alberta brought through this province, and criticism of the government's policy on some aspects of the international situation, were expressed in an address by O. L. Jones, M.P. for Yale, to the Penticton CCF club, last Friday.

Mr. Jones spent Friday morning and Saturday morning, answering questions on personal problems in the board of trade building. He leaves for Ottawa, sometime during the next two weeks, for the opening of the forthcoming session of parliament.

Mr. Jones declared that the situation is more serious than people think. "If we are to beat the ruthless enemy that opposes us, we must take more drastic steps than we are doing now," the M.P. declared. "Canada can do much more than she has been doing. Countries opposed in battle to Red China are funneling supplies through Hong Kong to the very country that we are fighting in Korea, claiming that it is the only means we have of carrying on trade with them."

ALUMINUM TO CHINA

"Canada recently sent $400,000 worth of aluminum to China. I, personally, cannot see the point of asking our men to sacrifice their lives while the aluminum companies are making a profit out of the same war."

"Not long ago Canada expressed her willingness to send surplus food to the underfed countries. Up to this time not one bushel of wheat has been given to the yellow man. It is not surprising then, when Russia comes to China, offering a bowl of rice, the country turns communist," said Mr. Jones.

Speaking of the shortage of small arms and machine guns among the allied nations, the M.P. told of the "most modern small arm factory in the world in Ontario."

"This factory is working at full capacity turning out sporting rifles and shot guns. The government give as its excuse, the fact that the Allies have not yet decided on a standard of arms common to all."

CONSCRIPTION

"They have been considering the idea of standardizing military equipment for the past eight years and still no decision is made. Meanwhile the army is in great need of machine guns and the government factory is still making sporting guns."

"The CCF policy on war was described as 'being against war, not wanting war, and doing all it could to avoid war.'"

"However," said Mr. Jones, "we are not the government. The CCF, if war must come, believes that conscription of wealth and man power must be put into effect. The physically fit must fight and the people with money must pay."

UNITED NATIONS

The United Nations as a medium for solving world problems was in part endorsed by the member for Yale. "The CCF will continue to support the UN, as a possible solution to world problems until something better is formed. The aim of that body is a world government with one army and air force. The problems, as proposed by international currencies are not, 'insurmountable, there is the international bank at Geneva and the bills of lading that are samples of the way that the money problems could be solved.'"

Speaking of the position of the socialists in the world of today, Mr. Jones stated that capitalism had reached the stage where it must either go to the extreme right or to the extreme left. "If another war does come then you can forget all about capitalism. Every atom bomb that the United States manufactures is costing that country as much money as a first class warship," he said.

Making reference to the claims of certain people that the CCF party is a communist organization, the local member denied it and declared "Communism is a political football that had been kicked around until people are getting curious about it and, on investigation, are finding that the ideology has certain attractions."

"It is impossible to fight the communist menace by saying that it has

Cranbrook Man Goes To Korea With Red Cross

Jack Purves, of Cranbrook, social worker for the B.C. department of health and welfare, has been selected as a member of the three-man Canadian Red Cross team to work in Korea under the United Nations. It was announced recently from the Society's national headquarters in Toronto. Mr. Purves will serve as welfare officer.

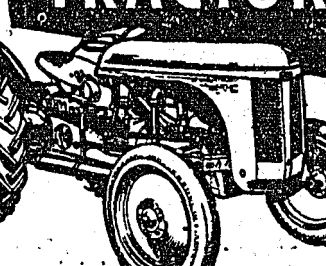

He had wide experience in India and South-East Asia during the war, serving as welfare worker with the International YMCA War Service and working with the British and Indian troops in those areas for nearly three years. Formerly a minister with the United Church in Saskatchewan, he graduated from the University of Saskatchewan and took a post-graduate course in the school of social work from the University of British Columbia.

Dr. Otto Wiesner, Toronto, formerly chief medical officer with the Royal Norwegian Air Force, and now a Canadian citizen, was selected as medical officer. Tin Yeh, a native of China and a post-graduate of the University of Toronto, will be the sanitary engineer. Seven similar teams from other countries were requested through the League of Red Cross Societies by the United Nations. The Canadian team is expected to leave for Korea early this year.

Building Permits Valued At 1,098,708 Issued In Vernon

VERNON—Building permits amounting to $1,098,708.72 were issued here during 1950.

Building permits for December totalled $122,038.72.

Construction in the year just concluded strained to reach the 1949 total of $1,110,996, which means that in two years, nearly two and a quarter million dollars of new buildings have been added to the city.

During 1950, permits were taken out for 44 single dwellings and two apartment houses totalling 15 suites, adding 59 new dwelling units to the city's living accommodation, which totals approximately $368,898 being spent for more and better homes.

Commercial and industrial buildings took care of some $497,654 of the total. Schools, (industrial arts building), $18,000; municipal buildings, (Civic Arena and work on the hospital), $10,075; government buildings, $86,651.72; churches, $63,350; public entertainment, $25,000, and miscellaneous, $28,580.

HIGHWAY COMMITTEE

A highway committee will be appointed by the Junior Chamber of Commerce to meet with Hon. E. C. Carson, provincial minister for public works, when he visits Penticton to discuss the proposed arterial highway with Council and the Board of Trade.

STEW FOR YOU

Savory stew in one of its countless variations has always had an indispensable place in the menu of the well-budgeted family. And in these days when homemakers everywhere are meeting the challenge of high prices by making the best use of every morsel of the family's meat allowance, stew as a top-ranking meat extender will appear even more frequently on well-planned menus.

The less expensive cuts of meat, shoulder, neck or shank, are used to the best advantage in flavorful stew. And the meat flavor goes a long way in the gravy of a good bowl of steaming stew. Because lamb, veal or beef are all equally delicious when featured in stew, this entree can easily be adapted to use whichever meat is preferred.

Stew gains new glamor when served with dumplings. Dumplings are no trick to make though inexperienced cooks are prone to shun them. Have thickened stew gently boiling. Drop dumplings by tablespoonfuls into stew and cook uncovered for about 20 minutes.

BRAN DUMPLINGS

1 egg
1/2 cup ready-to-eat bran
1/2 cup milk
1 cup sifted flour
2 teaspoons baking powder
1/2 teaspoon salt
Beat egg until light; add bran and milk. Sift together flour, baking powder and salt. Add liquid mixture to sifted dry ingredients and stir only until combined. Drop batter by heaping teaspoonfuls on top of hot meat stew; let simmer for 20 minutes. Serve at once.

CHINESE CHEWS

1/2 cup Flour
1 tsp. Baking Powder
2 Eggs
1/2 cup Honey
1/2 cup Brown Sugar
1/2 tsp. Salt
1 cup chopped dates
1 cup chopped nuts
1/2 cup Vanilla
Mix dry ingredients. Add nuts and dates. Mix other ingredients and add to first. Spread 1/2 inch deep on greased pan and bake 30 minutes in moderate oven. Cut while warm. May be pressed in cylinders and rolled in sugar, if desired.

Winter is a time for candies, not only for family and parties and unexpected guests who "drop in," but also to add color and taste to those boxes and baskets that go to neighbors, friends in hospitals and hotels or for a "little party."

Here are good recipes for the making of candy. Part of the basic mixture can

Pineapple Cream Cake

One half cup butter, 1 1/2 cups sugar, 1 tsp. vanilla, 1 cup crushed pineapple, with juice, 2 1/2 cups sifted cake flour, 2 1/2 tsp. double-acting baking powder, 1/2 tsp. salt, 1/4 cup water, 3 eggs, separated. Cream butter. Add sugar gradually while continuing to cream. Add vanilla and pineapple. Mix and sift flour, baking powder and salt; add alternately with water. Beat egg whites stiff, fold in. Bake in two greased and floured 8-inch layer cake pans in moderate oven, 350 degrees F., 35 to 40 minutes. Cool. Fill and top with Golden Whip Cream. Garnish with bits of drained crushed pineapple.

Business And Professional Club Sponsoring Saturday Tea

Home cooking will be the featured attraction when the Business and Professional Women's Club again sponsors its annual "Tea" and fund raising event of the year at the Legion Hall on Saturday between the hours of 2 p.m. and 5:30 p.m.

Dr. E. V. Thompson, president of the club, called an executive meeting last Wednesday to complete the arrangements for the affair.

Miss Margaret McLeod is assisting Dr. Thompson as general convenor. Presiding officers of various city women's clubs and others have been asked to pour tea. Among these are Mrs. W. A. Rathbun, Mrs. W. S. Reader, Penticton's Good Citizen for 1950 and president of the Penticton Red Cross; Mrs. Elsie McCreave, provincial president of the Business and Professional Women's Clubs; Mrs. V. E. Robinson, president of the Women's Institute; Mrs. M. H. Wright, president of the Diamond Jubilee Chapter IOOE, and Miss Elizabeth Sutherland, president of the Junior Hospital Auxiliary.

Mrs. George Kingsley will supervise the decorations in the tea room. Mrs. Fred Burton is in charge of musical arrangements for the afternoon. Arrangements for the tea refreshments are by Miss Margaret McLeod and servitors are under the supervision of Miss Mavis Harris. Miss Joan Appleton is directing the tea table arrangement and the kitchen. The Homecoming is under the supervision of Mrs. Pat Herbert.

JERSEYS POPULAR

In dresses and, of course, the ever present separates, wool jersey is fast becoming the darling of the designer mainly because of its natural ability to drape softly which, in turn, adds an air of casual grace to any outfit.

The beauty of wool jersey is that it can be worn all day and still retain its freshness and freedom from creasing. It is also a natural for travelling as it doesn't crush and takes up very little room. Wool jersey is also appearing in trim little hats, and is excellent for pleated dresses and separate skirts.

Officers Installed In Colorful Ritual

A colorful ceremony took place in the K.P. Hall last Friday when the Ladies' Orange Benevolent Association 1152 installed its newly elected and appointed officers for the ensuing year.

Mrs. Edith Wilcox was installed as worthy mistress for 1951. Others holding office are, Mrs. Ina Everitt, deputy mistress; Mrs. Rosa Mathers, chaplain; Mrs. Myrtle Bunes, secretary; Mrs. Grace Evans, treasurer; Mrs. Rose Laue, financial secretary; Mrs. Rudy White, director of ceremonies; Mrs. Lucy Humes, junior deputy mistress; Mr. E. Crooker, guardian; Mr. E. Cobb, inner guard; Mrs. Eva Brice, pianist; and Mrs. Lillian Smylie, immediate past mistress.

Another of life's minor irritants has been eliminated through fog proof bathroom mirrors. A built-in electric heater and electrically conductive rubber warm the glass to offset condensation of moisture laden steam in the bathroom.

Potted Plants Require Care

How are those potted plants you received at Christmas and the New Year getting along? They will last longer and bloom more profusely if they are given lots of sunlight; if the air is kept cool and moist; if the soil is never allowed to dry out; if they are kept out of draughts and if insects are kept under control, caution horticultural experts at the Central Experimental Farm, Ottawa.

In most houses the temperature, particularly at night is generally too warm for plants. Night temperatures should be 60 degrees or lower, so it is worth moving a plant to the coolest room in the house at night. An exception to this is the poinsettia which likes warm nights—never below 60, and does not relish sudden changes of temperatures.

That other Christmas favourite, the cyclam, in addition to needing cool nights, likes plenty of humidity—lots more than is found in the average home. This can be provided by standing the flower pot on a saucer of gravel (or small stones) which is kept moist at all times. But don't let the pot itself stand in water.

A plant needs water when the soil has dried out so that it crumbles in the hand. Most plants are best watered by standing the pot in a pan or saucer containing an inch or two of water. The pot should be removed when the surface of the soil appears moist. Be careful not to leave plants in a draught, and remember if you use cooking gas, plants are most susceptible to any unburned gas that escapes into the air. It will cause both flowers and leaves to drop off.

Heirloom Robe Worn By Infant

NARAMATA — An heirloom christening robe of fine mull, hand embroidered by his maternal great-grandmother, and a baby shawl, also a family keepsake, were worn by the three-month-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Julian Day, when he received the names, John Wynn Harold, at a christening ceremony held in St. Saviour's Anglican Church on Sunday, December 31.

Rev. W. E. Beames officiated. Godparents are Mrs. Malcolm McBeath and Mr. H. J. Day, grandfather of the infant. Maternal grandparents of the small principal are Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Rounds. His paternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Day of Walsall, England.

The National Film Board of Canada produces about 140 documentary films each year, including English, French and foreign-language versions.

PARKER HOUSE ROLLS

Measure into large bowl, 1/2 cup lukewarm water, 1 tsp. granulated sugar; stir until sugar is dissolved. Sprinkle with 1 envelope Fleischmann's Royal Fast Rising Dry Yeast. Let stand 10 min. THEN stir well. Scald 1 c. milk and stir in 5 lbs. granulated sugar, 2 1/2 tps. salt; cool to lukewarm. Add to yeast mixture and stir in 1/2 c. lukewarm water. Beat in 3 c. once-sifted bread flour; beat well. Beat in 4 lbs. more once-sifted bread flour. Knead until smooth and elastic; place in greased bowl and brush top with melted butter or shortening. Cover and set in warm place, free from draught. Let rise until doubled in bulk. Punch down dough in bowl, grease top and let rise again until nearly doubled. Punch down dough and roll out to 1/2" thickness. Cut into rounds with 3" cutter; brush with melted butter or shortening. Crease rounds deeply with dull side of knife, a little to one side of centre; fold larger half over smaller half and press along fold. Place, touching each other, on greased pans. Grease tops. Cover and let rise until doubled in bulk. Bake in hot oven, 400°, about 15 minutes.

Kelowna Youth Killed in Logging Accident

KELOWNA—Year's first logging fatality occurred last Thursday when Howard William Wall, 18, well-known youth in Kelowna, was killed while working in Philpott's camp, four miles north of the city. Death is believed to have been instantaneous, due to severe head injuries.

The youth had just quit a job at Kelowna Furniture Co. to go logging at the start of the year.

Cap & Bells

Oh winnow, winnow, winnow all my tolly and you'll find
A grain or two of truth among the chaff.

—W. S. Gilbert.

The other day, skimming through the pages of one of the more high-brow publications, I came across an article by a professor of economics at a famous university.

This learned gentleman gave it as his considered opinion that, if the present rate of increase in the world's population be continued for another seventy-five years, the earth will not produce enough food to go round.

He further opined that before then the distribution of food to the people would be under government control. I don't suppose my considered opinion is of much value to the erudite professor but I would venture to suggest that he lift the seat of his pants out of the Chair of Economics and get around a bit.

He really should. He ought to get out and see for himself what's going on to-day right here in this North American continent of ours.

If he did, he would find P.D.Q. that governments are already controlling food not, as he so naively imagines, to see that we don't.

I don't take jolly good care that we don't. There's no shortage of food—yet.

There's lots of it. Look at meat, milk, eggs, butter. Yes, look at 'em. That's all most of us can afford to do.

You may ask, why, if there is a plentiful supply, are prices so high? What about supply and demand?

The answer is very simple—some countries have what is called private enterprise, whilst others have state control.

In Canada and the USA we have both.

When business booms and there's lots of money about it's all private enterprise.

If the buyer kicks at high prices, the seller smiles blandly and talks glibly about supply and demand.

When times change and business falls off and stocks begin to pile up does the seller think of supply and demand and cut prices as he used to do in the bad old days?

Not on your life!

Just when the buyer thinks he's going to get a bit of his own back, the other half of our economic system, the state control part, starts to function.

It's very effective and it works as follows:—

Take any commodity as an example, say, butter.

The first step is to boost the price still higher by two or three cents to, say, seventy-five cents a pound.

Of course, there's another big squawk from the public.

Step two. The government, all nobility and sincerity, shouts, "Stop! The consumer shall be protected. There will be forthwith a ceiling price on butter."

The public, not knowing what's coming, applauds.

The ceiling price, of course, is only the price before the last jump, say seventy-two cents.

Step three. The producers raise a howl and say it isn't fair. If there's a ceiling price there ought to be a floor price, too.

The Government, according to plan, agrees and the floor price is fixed at, say, sixty cents.

This means, simply, that the Government undertakes to buy, with the taxpayers' money, all the butter that the taxpayer has already refused to buy because it was too dear. No matter how much butter is produced the Government must buy it (with our money).

This leaves the producer on velvet. The more butter he can make the better. Markets? Customers? Phooey! He just rings up the government, "I'll give you 300 pounds of butter here. Come and get it and bring a cheque for a hundred and eighty bucks with you. 'Bye!'"

Isn't that nice?

The government can't sell the stuff at more than the producer could, so it goes into cold storage at our expense.

Whether this is a brilliant piece of democratic statesmanship or a barefaced racket depends entirely on whether you are a producer or a consumer.

The scheme originated in the USA and our government, as usual, slavishly copied it.

Unhappily, there's a snag. They've suddenly discovered, in USA that butter won't keep indefinitely, even in cold storage. It appears there are horrid things like mildew and rancidity. They've got an awful lot of butter in store down there.

So there's a bit of a panic on at present. I mean, of course, about butter and they are trying very hard to unload it on someone. Anyone can have it, anyone at all, excepting, naturally, the taxpayers of the USA who own it.

So far they've only been able to sell a measly five and a half million pounds to Italy at fifteen cents a pound. I don't know who pays the freight but I can guess.

We've got a terrible lot of butter in cold storage, too, so don't be surprised if, in the near future, you hear that the government has "disposed" of a few million pounds of it.

I don't imagine you'll be told the price but it will be described as "surplus" butter.

That ought to get a laugh.

Indian Rock Paintings Are Proof Of Courage Rotary Club Informed

Kelowna Building
Figures For 1950
Pass Million Mark

KELOWNA—For the fifth consecutive year, value of construction in Kelowna exceeded the one million dollar mark.
Figures released last week by A. E. Clark, city building inspector, revealed that building permit values totalled $1,481,449.50 last year, compared with $1,027,433 in 1949. With the exception of the years 1947 and 1948, the 1950 total was the third largest in the city's history. The record building year of 1948 saw building values climb to $2,825,478 while 1947 was slightly higher than last year's figure at $1,629,881.
Several other major building projects, including the hospital wing, will go underway early this year, indicating there will be no decline in construction, providing necessary building materials are available.

Those who are careless about sneezing or coughing are among the world's top germ spreaders. Everyone should cough and sneeze in disposable handkerchiefs—this would help prevent spread of such diseases as colds.

What's the story behind Indian rock paintings?

Alderman J. G. Harris ventured to give an answer to this question, when he spoke before the Rotary Club at its luncheon on Monday.

He suggested that a great many of these paintings were the work of Indian boys of many years ago.

At the age of 14 such lads were obliged to give a proof of courage. They went out on a moonless night, stayed out for the night at some distance from their habitation, and did the painting as the proof.

An Indian leader, well-versed in the background of the earlier years, had explained this to him, Alderman Harris told his audience.

The speaker described the location of most of the signs in this general area, and gave proof that he knew what he was talking about.

"I think I looked at every rock between Kere-meos and Hedley," he confessed, "and there's lots of them."

Almost all the paintings are found to be in red. The paint was red earth found in and around Tulameen (the word means red earth), which was mixed with a fungus found in fir trees.

Yet not all of them may be the work of boys about to become braves.

One at least, in Alderman Harris' view, was that of a quite mature Indian. So mature, indeed, that he was "oultus" to the white man. Known as Ashnoia John, he once intercepted a white man, killed him, then fled and hid when four whites approached. While in hiding he saw a grim sight. His own father came along, met the quartet of white men near the scene of the body. The whites killed the father, thinking him the guilty one. Ashnoia vowed vengeance, and made a painting of the four men hanging. To this day, that painting is on a rock, near the road between Kere-meos and Hedley.

PROMOTION ANNOUNCED
Promotion of Mrs. Jessie Mitchell to the insurance department of the local, Unemployment Insurance Commission office was announced this week. Mrs. Mitchell was transferred from the women's employment section. She was succeeded in that department by G. Paul.

GENERAL DWIGHT D. EISENHOWER who left last week for Europe where he will take up his post as commander in chief of an army of 750,000, of which 150,000 will be Germans. The supreme commander will set up an international staff to control the European force which is to operate under centralized control.

.. It Comes Out Here ..

By
W. S. "Bill" Hands

A Victoria real estate man once said to me, "the public are awful!" I countered, with a smile, "we're the public!" He smiled.

He was right, the public are awful. They are, in fact, the cause of all the trouble in the world. Without them, the world would be alright.

They are always wanting something; and often, when they get it, they don't want it. Or, if they do, they want more of it, and, perhaps, something else in addition.

Often also—very often, I would venture to say—they don't know what they do want! (I guess I can say that again). Very often, I would venture to say, they don't know what they do want. But isn't it the truth?

These are awful at times (Not everybody everything) in the matter of courtesy. I have in mind, particularly, the wild stampede to board a bus or street-car during the rush hours in Ottawa during the war.

The way they pushed and shoved wasn't very far removed from the actions of panicky cattle being herded aboard a boat or box car.

The only thing that stopped them from climbing over one another, I believe, was the fact that they were civil servants!

But, in fairness, I must say that Ottawa is not the only place where rudeness is alarmingly evident, and civil servants are not the only delinquents.

And didn't those buses carry a load? It wasn't unusual to see a piece of a passenger's overcoat sticking outside the bus, where the doors had been shut with the passenger on the bottom step, unable to advance any farther into the bus due to it being literally packed to the doors.

Many members of the public are pretty awful, too, when they're behind the wheel of a car. (I guess I could say that again!) Afoot on a sidewalk, their behaviour may be beyond reproach, but it is anything but courteous when they're driving. They should be impugned.

The public are awful in their apathy regarding matters concerning their well-being. If they thought as much about their desire for peace as they do about fur coats, new cars, and other worldly goods, they might make some progress toward total freedom.

In a Vancouver newspaper, published on the day following VE Day, 1945, I remember reading a statement to the effect that the cessation of hostilities in Europe meant more gasoline for pleasure driving in Canada.

In the same newspaper's publication on the day following VJ Day, 1945, I remember reading another statement to the effect that, as a result of the cessation of hostilities with Japan, "horse racing can now go full speed ahead!"

If these things were uppermost in the minds of the public in 1945, then they, the public, were indeed awful, and were not deserving of peace, not the promise of no more war.

It was stated in an editorial in the Penticton Herald three weeks ago that "the League of Nations failed because it had no teeth", and

An important difference between you and your neighbours

CHANCES ARE you have a lot in common with your neighbours. But there is an important difference between your plans for the future and theirs.

There is something special, for instance, about your plans for retiring. You have your own ideas about how much income you'll need to live on in your later years. And you also determine at what age you'll want to start "taking it easy".

Likewise, you face different problems in protecting the family income in case anything happens to you.

With life insurance you can find security in both of these ways — arranged to fit your own special needs. You have a choice of many different kinds of policies for different purposes. And the services of trained life underwriters are at your beck and call to help you make that choice wisely.

Nothing but Life Insurance gives YOU this control over your future.

So today — and tomorrow — rely on your own life insurance to meet your own personal needs!

Kereemos Incident

The Children of Light

By A. D. Murray

The activities, at Kereemos, of a small religious sect calling themselves the "Children of Light" whilst possibly regrettable should not be regarded as extraordinary.

Through the ages, in many lands, there has been a succession of similar incidents.

They are all very much alike. A small group of people, led by a fanatic, usually of strong personality, decides that the end of the world is at hand.

This is the foundation of practically all these outbursts. The belief is based on a rule on one or both of two things, either an interpretation of some passage in the Bible or a vision or revelation to some member of the sect, usually the leader.

The disposal of all worldly possessions is customary since it is believed that only the poor and penniless can enter the kingdom.

All monies and valuables are usually handed to the leader, who discharges all debts owing by members of the sect.

The balance is got rid of in various ways. On one occasion, in the case of a French sect, an island was chosen as the appointed place at which to await the end and the money was thrown overboard on the way.

At least once the integrity of the leader has been in doubt but it should be stressed that this is the exception and certainly not the rule. The sincerity and earnestness of the participants is generally obvious.

When the place where the end is to be awaited is reached, be it building, hill, island, forest or plain, special ceremonial garments are donned. The time is passed either in prayer and fasting or in feasting and rejoicing.

Naturally, strong local interest is aroused but there is seldom any interference.

In fact, no interference is to be expected because freedom of religion and worship is one of our most cherished rights and since the participants are, as a general rule, adults who are perfectly orderly and break no law, any interference by the authorities would be not only ill-advised and unjustified but would be hotly resented even by those outside the sect.

At Kereemos, however, there is, according to reports, a comparatively large percentage of adolescents and this may lead to police action which would, however necessary, be unfortunate.

Such outbursts are very temporary through Biblical prophecy of its approaching and inevitable doom. It is possible that even before these lines are in print the Kereemos episode will be concluded and on the way to being forgotten.

"Doodiesack" is a colloquial name for bagpipes.

O. L. Jones Reviews

 been a failure in Russia. The only way to combat the danger is by full support of the UN. We are driving people to communism by not welcoming them to our own organizations.

DISCUSSES INDIAN POLICY
 Deploring the government's policy toward native Indians, Mr. Jones told of an instance where the government had brought the new Indian Act to the house and had asked the members to vote on it after the briefest of discussion.

"When we gave the act further study that night," explained Mr. Jones, "we found that there were little changes from the one that had been written 70 years ago."

"The CCF objected and the following day 60 Indians came to the house to protest. The Indians explained they wanted the right to attend the same schools as the white people. Under the present system the Indians attend church schools and have a great religious background in their education and they find that they are handicapped when they come out into the competitive world."

UNFAIR TREATMENT
 "The government had made no provision for this."

"The Indians in Canada are being treated worse than the natives in the far east who are now in revolt against their white masters. It is only because of the weakness in the hands of the North American Indians do not revolt. By virtue of their small population they are compelled to sit back and take it. 'We have,' said Mr. Jones, 'a great Christian responsibility to these people.'"

RUBBER STAMP
 "If any one can prove to me that the liberal members are not a rubber stamp, I would like to see it," continued Mr. Jones, "when the Indian Act was presented every liberal member in the house voted for its adoption. Shortly afterwards, when thousands of protesting letters and telegrams had been received, the Minister decided to hold up passage of the bill for one year."

"There was not one objecting vote from any of these liberals who had pressed for its adoption," the speaker declared.

Mr. Jones said that the expected to see a veterans' affairs committee reappointed in the near future.

"There was a committee in existence but it was disbanded. It did a fine job in stabilizing pensions and we hope to see formation of a committee that will look into problems of veterans and help to solve them."

The member for Yale then gave a brief resume of the bills that the CCF party had been instrumental in having adopted.

Four months ago a bill was passed that allowed a private citizen to sue the crown for the power of rights. Previously, he explained, it was necessary to obtain special permission from the attorney general before such cases could be heard.

ARMY AFFAIRS
 Regarding the Army Act, the Militia Act and the King's Regulations, Mr. Jones explained that until passage of a bill which put the Canadian troops under the jurisdiction of the Army Act, Canadian soldiers were governed by King's Regulations which did not consider them to be overseas while serving in England.

"This meant that many difficulties arose in the matter of granting pensions."

"During the last war, forces were ruled to be overseas when outside Canada, because of the stipulations of the Army Act. These three Acts are now consolidated with the result that solutions to pension and other problems are easier to find," the member explained.

Merchant shipping has also received the attention of the CCF party. The laws governing the use of radar on vessels sailing more than 50 miles from shore have been changed so that now, all vessels carrying passengers, even in coastal waters, are bound, by law, to be radar equipped.

Foreign ships, trading along the Canadian coast must carry crews that are paid similar rates to those being paid to Canadian seamen.

"This," said Mr. Jones, "was to ensure that vessels carrying underpaid crews could not work in unfair competition with Canadian vessels."

patition with Canadian vessels."

Immediate action was urged to have the pipeline from Alberta's natural gas brought to the B.C. coast along a B.C. route instead of going through the States. The speaker criticized the board of trade here for its apparent indifference to the need and he urged his audience to press for the local route.

(It was later disclosed by a member of the local board of trade that the group has already made several representations to the ruling bodies to have the local route used and that the board of trade planned to approach the board of transport commissioners, in whose hands the decision to place the route rests.)

MORE INDUSTRIES
 Referring to the fruit industry, Mr. Jones pointed out that it is unwise to put all one's eggs in one basket. "Lately there have been one or two lean years and it would be a good idea to make plans to have other industries come into the valley."

"The introduction of cheap power by natural gas would make this valley ideal for light industries. Every one in Spokane knows that their city was built by money that was made in the Kootenays."

Speaking of the Trans Canada highway, the local MP told of the petitions he had received asking for the use of the northern route and the southern route. "I spoke recently to the provincial minister for public works and it seems certain that the use of the Big Bend highway will be changed and eventually both roads, will be in use but it is not certain which one will be put into operation first."

Referring to the tourist industry that we have a high that will not receive the adverse criticism that the present one is getting.

"I hope that you can press Mr. Finney to urge government action on enquiring into the projects of the Municipal Improvements Act, Mr. Jones told of the $35,000,000 that was made available to cities at a rate of two percent interest. "Eight years ago all the money loaned under this act had been repaid and the government decided to stop all loans."

"We found that the provinces of Quebec still had access to the funds and on enquiring we were told that the province had never taken advantage of the funds when other provinces were making loans and so the period of time had been extended on its behalf."

ADVOCATES LOW INTEREST
 "Several members in Ottawa are interested in opening the loans again. I have suggested the idea to several valley towns that they should approach the dominion government asking that the funds be made available once more."

"The money is still there. There are $35,000,000 that could be used to excellent advantage in projects like the Memorial Arena that Penticton is going to build."

"I do not think that projects for municipalities should be called upon to pay more than two percent interest," the MP for Yale declared.

In conclusion, Mr. Jones challenged the Liberal party to maintain peace and full employment. "The CCF are the only people who can give you stability," he said and cited as an example the case of Vancouver, a city which has paid out $8,000,000 in social services in one year.

"That is a disgrace to a province with greater natural resources per capita than any other country in the world."

QUESTION PERIOD
 In the question period that followed, the member for Yale declared that the UN was only a temporary measure and that world government was only possible under the socialists. He pointed to the trend in world affairs that showed that the world was moving toward a world government and cited the British, Swedish and Indian governments as examples.

In answer to another question, asking his views on the practice of doctors and lawyers being allowed to judge their fellow professional men and decide if they could practise in this province, Mr. Jones declared himself to be against the idea. "The entry of doctors should be decided by the medical board in authority," he said.

WHY NOT CHINA?
 Mr. Jones expressed his personal views on Red China's entry into the UN. "They have allowed other communist countries to have seats at Lake Success, why not Red China?" To me it seems only practical polit-

Slight Increase In Sewer Mill Rate

Property owners in the sewer districts are faced with the prospects of slightly higher taxes in 1951. In a report on the assessment roll presented to council Monday by city assessor S. N. Corncock, it is noted that the sewer mill this year is worth $4954.99, which is $199.99 more than 1950's value. Sewer loan requirements are estimated at $27,000, the 1950 sewer loan charges of $23,990, representing an increase over 775.

"A slight increase in the sewer mill rate for 1951 appears necessary—about six-tenths of a mill," Mr. Corncock reports, reminding taxpayers that the new rate will still be lower than that of 1947 and 1948. Land and improvements within the sewer area is valued at $9,326,038, of which $8,210,978 is taxable, he reported.

City Firemen To Learn Latest In Firefighting

Of interest locally was the marriage Christmas Eve in Tacoma, Washington, of Thelma Nicholson, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. V. M. Lockwood of West Summerland, and Clifford L. Hultgren, prominent local hardware merchant.

The wedding took place at the home of the bride's sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Plerson of Tacoma. After a honeymoon spent in Bellingham and Vancouver, Mr. and Mrs. Hultgren are now residing at 150 Nannaimo avenue.

ies. "I think England was right in endorsing China's attempts to gain admittance."

On world domination the member for Yale was definite. "Socialism is spreading through out the world and it is only a matter of time before it is accepted. I do not think that the world will accept the Russian communist way of thinking."

In answer to the last question, on the hospital insurance plan in this province, Mr. Jones himself asked questions. "Is it a deliberate attempt to discourage the idea? I don't know myself. I do think that hospital insurance is a must, but how far the present provincial government policy will affect our future policy, it is hard to say."

$1300 Fire Damage Reported In December

Penticton fire department answered six calls during the month of December last year. Damage was estimated at $1,300 against $1,000 in the same period last year.

Almost all the damage resulted from the fire at the premises of Red's Signs on Robinson street.
